BULLETIN

Paris (AP)—Commander Richard E. Byrd and his companions will leave Ver Sur Mer for Paris Friday evening and will arrive here about midnight.

H. A. G. Jones, personal representative of Rod Wanamaker, sponsor of the flight, telegraphed his wife here late Friday.

Ver Sur Mer, France (AP)—An account of how the America came down and how Commander Byrd and his three companions got ashore was given by the commander himself to Max Mathew, a French aviator and journalist, who brought an Associated Press correspondent here from Paris in an airplane.

It was the arrival of the Associated Press airplane which awoke Commander Byrd, he told Mathew when the aviator met him in the kitchen of the home of the deputy mayor of this village.

"Commander Byrd," said Mathew, "on being awakened, met me in the kitchen where we had a meal. He said the arrival of the Associated Press plane woke him up. He was uneasy about a sack of United States mail which he carried in the America and which had been left at the lighthouse after having been taken from the plane."

WE'RE LOST IN FOG

Byrd told me that just before the America came down he and his companions had been turning and around in the fog without knowing where they were. "Virtually no oil was left and no gasoline. We had no chance but to seek a landing," Byrd said.

"When we struck water the tail of the airplane was torn off together with the landing wheels. It immediately began to get out of control. We were up to our breasts in water. We got ashore but had no idea where we were."

"Do you think you'll go to Paris?" I asked.

"To tell you the truth, I don't know what we will do," he replied.

Commander Byrd reverting again to his landing, said:

"Sat on the beach until 4 a. m. and did not see a deputy mayor and the fishermen arrived."

"Then while the commander and I were talking, M. Bayeux, the assistant prefect, came in and with great seriousness and formality presented the congratulations of President Domergue, Prime Minister Poincare and the French government."

COULDN'T SEE WING TIPS

Paris (AP)—The trans-Atlantic flight of Commander Byrd and his companions was a tremendous difficulty even just after dawn today in the sea 200 yards from the beach of the little seaside resort of Ver-Sur-Mer, 175 miles west of Paris.

For hours over the Atlantic they were unable to see the ocean, or determine with any accuracy, except with the aid of the radio, just where they were. For three sessions even the tips of the wings were obscured from the anxious man in the pilot's seat. But it was over-land itself that the greatest peril came. In the darkness of a rainy and stormy night, when their compass failed to work, they literally wandered about high in the air seeking a place to come down. The radio guided them over the sea, but somehow it failed on land.

Ver-Sur-Mer is a small seaside resort town with 661 permanent inhabitants and lies about 175 miles west of Paris and about 35 miles southwest of Havre.

TILDEN AND MRS. MALLORY
LOSE IN MIXED DOUBLES

Wimbledon (AP)—William T. Tilden and Mrs. Molla Mallory were eliminated from the mixed doubles of the Wimbledon tennis tournament Friday afternoon by Baron Kuhlmann of Hungary and Miss Eileen Bennett of England, 3-6 6-1, 6-4. The American team made a strong start but Tilden's play weakened greatly in the second set. As in his match against Henri Cochet, Thursday he seemed to tire and made many errors.

Helen Willis and Elizabeth Ryan advanced in the women's doubles by eliminating Mrs. M. Watson and Miss E. A. Goldsack of England, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2.

RETRIAL DATE
SET IN FORD
LIBEL CASE

Judge Raymond Schedules Trial for Sept. 12—Sapiro Wants New Judge

Detroit (AP)—Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond Friday set Sept. 12 as a tentative date for the retrial of Aaron Sapiro's $1,000,000 libel suit against Henry Ford and the Dearborn Independent.

The date set is conditional upon failure of counsel for Mr. Sapiro to effect a transfer of the case to Judge Edward J. Moineau, who will take office within a few days as the third federal judge for this district. William Henry Gallagher, chief counsel for the plaintiff, said Friday he was unwilling to proceed with the trial before Judge Raymond.

A mistrial in the libel action was declared two months ago when an afternoon newspaper published an interview with a woman juror who the defendants had filed charges.

DISCUSSES NEW TRIAL

Gallagher and Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, chief of Ford counsel, met with Judge Raymond Friday morning to discuss the retrial. Judge Raymond, whose court is in the western district of Michigan pointed out that his work would keep him occupied beyond Sept. 12. Gallagher suggested that Judge Moineau be asked to assume charge of the case. Judge Raymond agreed, but Senator effected objection.

Time would be lost if a new judge stepped in and also the "dog days" might necessitate another mistrial if a juror or attorney collapsed.

Mr. Reed said Gallagher asserted that the defense should as a matter of justice to Mr. Sapiro bring about a retrial as soon as possible.

OX GLANDS USED AS CURE OF CHILDREN'S DISEASE

Duluth, Minn. (AP)—One of the biggest discoveries of modern medicine, the extraction from ox glands of the active parathyroid with its resultant curative effects on tetany in children and following goiter operations, was announced at the fifty-ninth annual convention of the Minnesota State Medical Association Thursday by Dr. Adolph M. Hansen of Fairbault.

Manifest possibilities of the discovery were pointed out by Dr. Hansen, who Friday declared that time and the general use of the parathyroid hormone, known as the parathyroid hormone, will reveal the extent of its cure of St. Vitus dance, ulcers of the stomach and leg, inflammation of the joints, and inflammation of the bladder.

FAIL TO FIND BODY OF MISSING MILWAUKEEAN

Milwaukee (AP)—Henry Geffert, 55, vice president of the Jaeger Sand and Gravel company, disappeared Thursday, and the belief that he was drowned in a West Allis shaft was dispelled early Friday when the shaft was drained and no body found. His family was unable to provide any clue.

Hospital Patients Look Forward To Flower Gifts

Chances are the Post-Crescent flower cars will return with small loads from their flower collection trips on Saturday because of the very meagre response to the appeal for flowers for delivery to the sick in St. Elizabeth hospital and Riverside sanatorium. It is hard to believe that last Saturday's huge response was just a "flash in the pan" but the returns today indicate lessened interest in this work.

There are approximately 150 patients in the hospital and in the sanatorium and it is safe to say that not more than half of these are remembered with gifts of flowers from their friends. The remainder find their rooms rather cheerless for lack of the bright colorings which flowers give. It is for these that this movement of collecting flowers from those who can give was inaugurated.

There isn't much work connected with the giving of flowers. All that is necessary is to call 543 and tell the telephone operator that you will have flowers for the flower cars on Saturday morning. All that remains is to cut the flowers, tie them in a bouquet, wrap them lightly in paper and the Flower Car drivers will do the rest.

If those who have flowers could have been at the hospital and the sanatorium last Saturday when the flowers were delivered they would be happy to give them, for the joy the flowers gave to the sick cannot be described. They put an altogether new atmosphere in the sick rooms.

The flowers will be collected between 8 o'clock in the morning and noon and the schedule will be about the same as last Saturday. The flowers are all delivered to the patients before 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

END OF HOT WAVE

Milwaukee (AP)—Friday afternoon or Friday night, according to Forecaster W. P. Stewart, will see the end of the hot wave which has gripped Milwaukee for four days and which caused one death late Thursday and another Friday. Mr. Stewart said that late in the day "there will be thundershowers which will be followed by a northwesterly wind that will bring cooler weather."

The deaths were those of John Kubicki, 57, Cleveland, a stevedore, and Florida Walz, 5-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dalz. A doctor was called but the baby was dead when he arrived. He said that death was caused by heat.

Seeking relief from the heat, Kubicki went to sleep on the dock south of Buffalo street Sunday night and fell into the river and was drowned.

The third death in two days due to the hot wave was revealed Friday when the body of John Joe, 60, a laborer employed in Calvary cemetery was found in the cemetery.

Five persons were overcome late Thursday. One prostration occurred Friday. The highest temperature Thursday was 94 at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. This exceeded by one degree the season's previous record, established Wednesday.

HEALTHIEST WEATHER

Chicago (AP)—While Chicago sweltered for the third straight day, her health commissioner, Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, pointed out that the year's lowest death rate is in the summer season.

"Don't worry, remember that hot weather is healthy weather and that the normal body easily adjusts itself to such changes," he said.

Nevertheless he took cognizance of the uncomfortable situation by issuing this set of "heat health-grams."

"Take it easy. Avoid rush and fuss. Bathe frequently. Eat half your usual amount and take twice as long in the bath. Dress lightly and in light colored clothing. If you're a man take off your coat and vest and keep them off, regardless of foolish etiquette."

"If you're a woman take advantage of the current styles and wear as little as possible. Do not remain in the direct sunshine for long unless you are used to it. Sleep in the open air if you can. Salads, fruits, and milk are good hot weather diets."

SEEK MAN WHO TRIED TO CHLOROFORM DIRECTOR

Fullerton, Calif. (AP)—A mysterious prowler who has thus far vainly attempted to overpower intended victims by chloroform fumes, injected into their sleeping rooms, Friday commanded the attention of the Fullerton police, following an attack on Ralph Ince, film director, Thursday.

The police despite the fact that they made a thorough investigation, were prone to regard the case as cause for no great alarm. Reports of chloroform attacks on two others besides Ince, the officers believe, may have been due to slight hysteria of the victims.

Ince was discovered in a dazed condition in a hotel room here shortly after midnight by two members of his film company who had dropped in for a chat before going to bed. Chloroform was believed to have been sprayed into the room through an open transom. The director received no ill effect from his experience.

ARREST RAIL ENGINEER IN RACINE FOR SPEEDING

Racine (AP)—Mayor Armstrong's crusade against alleged speeding of passenger trains on the Northwestern road Thursday resulted in the ordering into court of one engineer, G. L. King. He is alleged to have been going at the rate of 50 miles an hour and was told to appear at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Other engineers held below the rate of 20 miles an hour and police say there must have been advance information given them. The engineers smiled at the motorcycle officers who were checking up on them.

TEMPERATURE FALLS FROM 91 WHEN RAIN BREAKS HEAT WAVE

Mercury Hovered Around 95 Degrees Above Zero Thursday Afternoon

Rain and a cooling west wind rescued Appleton from the grip of the heat wave which has held the city and Wisconsin in its grip for three days. Within a few minutes after the first warning of the storm a heavy rain fell and the mercury dropped with it.

Thursday was the hottest day of the year, the thermometer going up to 95 degrees at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The lowest temperature during the night was 74. The mercury climbed to 91 at 12:30 Friday.

There were no prostrations or deaths reported in Appleton, Milwaukee reported two deaths Thursday.

The beaches around Appleton had a record day, thousands seeking relief in the water. The municipal pool had one of the heaviest days of the year while the Y. M. C. A. pool and showers were used by 155 persons, a new record high.

SENATE VOTES VACATION IN HOT SESSION

Spends So Much Time Debating Adjournment Other Business Is Passed Up

Madison (AP)—The state senate shot off all its fireworks Friday. Starting with Senator Carroll's surtax bill which would have raised $300,000 for the purpose of purchasing the Northern Lakes park, three consecutive calls were placed upon the house, and a heated argument continued behind the locked doors of the senate chamber.

Senator Carroll, loudly demanding the floor, drew the fire of Lieut. Gov. Huber, who promptly ruled him out of order and demanded the senator sit down. The senator vigorously protested and was quietly only after the sergeant at arms had persuaded him to do so. From then on peaceful moments were rare.

Adjournment, after a dozen ballots, was finally voted and throughout the three and one half hours of debate only one important measure, that appropriating $125,000 for a state owned garage, was killed. In the meantime two bills calling for the purchase of state parks, one by Carroll and the other by the joint finance committee and the Duncan Beer bill were all laid over until July 11, when the senate will return from its vacation period.

Reconsideration of the Duncan beer bill, which had passed both houses of the legislature and is now awaiting the governor's approval or veto, was asked Thursday night by Senator Carroll. Senator Carroll, who voted with this week when the Senate by a vote of 17 to 14 concurred in the Duncan bill, asked immediate reconsideration. Polkowski immediately asked a call to the house. A motion to adjourn was then passed.

The senate refused to indefinitely postpone the Carroll surtax bill, but when the question of passage came up Senator Dargatz asked a call to the house. The senate then moved on to the Duncan beer bill, asking the purchase of the Seven Pines park. Polkowski the Kettle Moraine, Fond du Lac and Sheboygan co. tracts of land along Lake Michigan. A second call was then ordered.

Because of the recess in the legislature next week, Governor Grover C. Lowden, Illinois, probably will address a joint session of the lawmakers, July 14, instead of July 7 as originally planned.

After refusing to kill the bill for a five cent tax on each pound of oleomargarine sold in Wisconsin, the assembly ordered the bill engrossed by a vote of 33 to 25.

There was a long debate on the measure. Its opponents claiming that it imposed a sales tax that would work a hardship on the "little fellow" and proponents of the bill calling it a good prophylactic measure for the sale of a product "inferior to the state's dairy products" and therefore an aid to the dairy industry.

A bill by Assemblyman Berres increasing the state appropriation for foreign institutions from $20,000 to $30,000 was ordered engrossed. It provides that more attention shall be given in the financially reinforced institutes to cooperative marketing and the business of cooperatives.

TRAIN DISPATCHER DIES AT DESK IN LA CROSSE

Wives Remain Calm While Awaiting News Of Flight

Reservoir Field, New York (AP)—"The home guard" of Commander Richard E. Byrd's aerial overseas expedition which prematurely celebrated with a banquet, music and fireworks his arrival in France, received the news of his actual landing with calmness, but great satisfaction. There were only about twenty persons about the hangar of the America Trans-oceanic company when the word came that the fliers were safe at Ver-Sur-Mer, and most of these were newspapermen.

Among the faithful who maintained all night vigil at the end of a telegraph wire, however, were Mrs. Bert Acosta and Mrs. George O. Noville, who refused to give way to fear even when their husbands were missing for hours.

When a cablegram was received from Commander Byrd, addressed to his wife, saying he had landed and all were safe, the two women telephoned Mrs. Byrd in Boston.

Others of the faithful group were Tom Mulvey, chief mechanic, who was with Byrd at Spitzbergen when he flew to the North pole. Grover A. Whalen, vice president of the America Trans-oceanic company and personal representative of Rodman Wanamaker, backer of the flight, also remained throughout the night.

Mrs. Acosta and Mrs. Noville left for their temporary home at the Garden City hotel early Friday morning. They appeared wan from want of sleep, but smiled cheerfully in the knowledge that their husbands were safe. Floyd Bennett who was to have been pilot of the America but for an accident which has confined him to a hospital in New York was told of the safe arrival of the America over the telephone by Mr. Whalen.

"It was a tough break, but it could have been worse," said Bennett when told of the forced landing.

Is Safe In France

Commander R. E. Byrd

Commander Richard E. Byrd, navigator of the monoplane America, who set a new long distance flight record when his plane landed in the water near Ver-Sur-Mer, heavy fog prevented the flier and his companions from reaching Paris. They were in the air 39 hours and 36 minutes.

Byrd Sees Round Trip To And From Paris In 3 Days

New York (AP)—The value of radio in future trans-Atlantic flights was stressed by experts Friday in commenting on Commander Byrd's flight. When his radio stopped it was realized he was in trouble and his approximate location was known. In the 2,900 mile jump through the fog walls and headwinds of the stormy north Atlantic the automatic transmitter kept up its intermittent flashes, notifying the world that the craft was carrying on. Even in part of the storm the radio was kept working. It went silent only when the plane came down.

CITY GOLF COURSE WILL COST $8,000

Chamber of Commerce Directors to Hear Report on Municipal Project

A. G. Wort, traffic manager of the Chamber of Commerce was the principal speaker at a meeting of directors of the chamber Thursday noon at Hotel Northern. Mr. Wort reported on the hearing at St. Paul before the interstate commerce commission regarding the establishment of new freight rates in the western truck territory of which Wisconsin is a part.

The committee which has the municipal golf course under advisement reported that the project could be put through at a cost of about $8,000. Methods of financing were discussed, and a report will be made at a later date.

The annual budget of the chamber was presented and adopted. In the discussion which followed it was recommended that the chamber seek quarters that will enable it to cut down the rental costs.

Out-of-the-city promoters who come into Appleton and put on campaigns to raise money for clubs and organizations came up for comment. It was brought out that several of these promoters have been in the city recently and have put on campaigns that netted the clubs less than one-quarter of the amount the promoters received. Methods of stopping the practice were proposed.

COMMITTEE MEETS TO DISCUSS CAR PARKING

The car parking question and the purchase of a tractor for use by the street department will be discussed at a meeting of the streets and bridges committee of the city council Tuesday afternoon at the city hall. Chief of Police George T. Prim has made a study of parking on the principal streets and his report will be considered. A report of the committee's findings and recommendations will be made to the council.

The old tractor used for pulling the car from the city streets has worn out and a new machine will replace it. A recommendation on the type of tractor to be purchased will be made by the committee to the council.

SHERIFF ASKED TO LOOK FOR A. W. O. L. INDIAN

Sheriff Otto Zuehlke has been asked to look for James Skendore, an Indian who is absent without leave from Battery C, 14th Field Artillery, at Downing, commanding officer of company, in a letter to Sheriff Zuehlke, said that Skendore had been seen in Appleton. The Indian is of medium build about 5 feet 5 1/2 inches in height.

PLAY QUALIFYING ROUND FOR DIRECTORS CUP

The qualifying round for the director's trophy will be played at Butte des Morts golf club Saturday afternoon. The sixteen low net scores will qualify. Full handicaps will be allowed. The winner of the trophy will have permanent possession. Other prizes will be awarded for low net and low scores in the qualifying round.

HOTELS HERE FILLED WITH TOURIST PARTIES

Hot weather has brought tourists in droves to Appleton hotels the past nights. Many come armed with golf clubs and several have remained in Appleton to play at the Butte des Morts club rather than go on to the north.

Last week there were as many cars going south as north, drivers reported. The northern resorts were so cold that the tourists did not stay long, but not to this week.

Woman Exhibits Black Eye As Proof Of Fight

Mrs. Eva Nettledorf, 520 W. Fifth-st., pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault and battery when arraigned before Judge Fred V. Heineman in municipal court Friday morning. The charge was brought by Mrs. Caroline Selke, 520 W. Fifth-st. The women occupy flats in a duplex apartment building. A bond of $50 were furnished by Mrs. Nettledorf and her trial was set for 10 o'clock Monday morning, July 11.

Mrs. Selke charged she had been "on the outs" with her neighbor for some time. Thursday afternoon, she said, Mrs. Nettledorf encountered her in the cellar, which they use jointly, and attempted to assault her. She escaped and ran upstairs but Mrs. Nettledorf followed her. She fled outside but Mrs. Nettledorf caught her when she reached the front lawn and a live fight ensued the charges.

The complainant was worsted in the fight and suffered a black eye as well as other bruises and scratches, she said.

FILE SEWER ASSESSMENT AGAINST LOT OWNERS

A notice of sewer assessment and hearing on property on Brewster-st. between N. Division and Clark-sts. has been made by the board of public works through E. L. Williams, city clerk. The report of assessments will be open to inspection in the office of the board for ten days from July 1 to 11, and a hearing of all objections which may be made to the report will be held from 1:30 in the afternoon July 14 at the office. It will continue in session as long as necessary.

Each parcel of real estate to be affected by the proposed sewer was assessed and the benefits to accrue to the property were determined by the board in their inspection June 28, made by the order of the common council, in accordance with its specifications and plans.

MAIN ASSESSMENTS UP FOR INSPECTION

Property Owners Have Privilege of Looking for Water Main Charges

Reports of assessing and determining the benefits to accrue to real estate affected by the building of water mains on parts of five city streets by the board of public works will be on file and open to inspection at the city clerk's office at the city hall for a period of ten days beginning July 1 and ending July 11, according to a notice issued by the board through E. L. Williams, city clerk. Objections which may be made to the report, determination and assessment will be heard by the board at a session beginning at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon July 14. It will continue in session as long as necessary at the city hall.

The property viewed by the board June 28 was on: Telulah-ave. from Gunn to Harriet-sts; N. Bennett-st. from Elsie-st to Oklahoma-ave; N. Summit-st. from Winnebago to Commercial-sts; Wisconsin-ave. from the present terminus to Bennett-st; N. Alvin-st. to Parkway-blvd.

The reports are on file with the order of the council and in accordance with the plans and specifications previously adopted. Each parcel of real estate has been considered as it would be affected by the proposed sewer and each has been assessed.

SOUND WARNINGS OF FIREWORKS DANGER IN STATE REPORT

Health Board Says Toy Cap
Pistol Burns May Result in Lockjaw

Madison—(AP)—Although greatly reduced from the totals of 20 years ago, Wisconsin's Fourth of July accident record still leaves much to be desired, in the opinion of the state board of health.

State and local regulations now bar the worst of the explosives, but injury or death is still reported yearly from such so-called harmless fireworks as sparklers, blank cartridges, small firecrackers and Roman candles. A Wisconsin law bars the sale or use of toy pistols or revolvers or other firearms. Another statute prohibits firecrackers in general reading as follows:

"No person shall sell or keep for sale or manufacture or bring into this state for use therein, any skyrockets, fireworks or firecrackers, containing picric acid, picrates, chlorate of potash compound, dynamite, mixture of dynamite, or other high explosives mixtures, pellets or tablets compounded of any of the foregoing or other high explosives mixtures, explosive cures using blank cartridges or explosive paper caps, blank cartridge pistols, or any firecrackers more than three inches in length and one-half inch in diameter."

The penalty clause calls for heavy fine or imprisonment. "Tetanus, or lockjaw, one of the most terrible of maladies, is the result most feared from Independence day celebrations," the board said. Tetanus is more likely to develop in wounds caused by exploding cartridges or by toy cap pistols, since the wounds of this nature are more likely to be carried, and the nature of the wound is such that the tetanus bacillus is excluded. The tetanus bacillus is an organism that grows only in the absence of air, hence it finds favorable conditions for growth in wounds of this type.

"Wherever wounds of this nature occur," warned the board, "go to your physician for the administration of tetanus antitoxin as a preventive measure. When 1,500 or more units of antitoxin are administered immediately after the accident, there is practically no possibility of tetanus developing, whereas if tetanus actually develops, the administration of antitoxin may not effect a cure. In other words, tetanus antitoxin is an effective preventive, but an indifferent cure."

"The safest course is to avoid the risk of such accidents or wounds by finding other means of demonstrating our loyalty. In most cases the responsibility rests on the parents in regard to what material they purchase for their children for the celebration."

MARINETTE PREPARES LEGION SOUVENIRS

Marinette—(AP)—Marinette will prepare a convention souvenir program for the 1927 American Legion meeting. The program will be devoted to Legion, Auxiliary and 40-8 programs. It will contain welcomes and a review of Legion and Auxiliary accomplishments and activities. The book will also devote some space to scenes in and near Marinette and to information on the city and county. A full map of the city will also be given. The book will be financed by advertising which will be solicited in different communities. The convention principle established by the Teddy Budding Post and Convention Committee, namely, that no profit come to the local unit from any convention feature will also hold true of the program.

COMPILE DATA ON TOBACCO CULTURE

Commerce Department Report Gives Figures on Wisconsin Output

Madison—(AP)—Nearly one hundred billion cigars were manufactured in the United States during the last census year, 1926, the department of commerce at Washington reports.

Seven billion cigars were placed on the market during the same year while the amount of chewing tobacco, snuff and smoking tobacco amounted to 315,000,000 pounds.

Figures showing this are to be contained in the annual bulletin on stocks of leaf tobacco which will give data regarding the acreage in tobacco by states, prices obtained by manufacturer and the quantity of tobacco consumed.

Dane county Wisconsin is the leading county of the state in tobacco growing, according to latest figures obtained by the department. Based upon 1926, the preceding census year, Dane county's production was in excess of 2,500,000 pounds. Two other Wisconsin counties produced similar amounts.

According to the bulletin, 1,664,769 acres were planted in tobacco in 1926, while the production from that crop amounted to 1,223,838,000 pounds. There were imported during the year 67,905,635 pounds of leaf tobacco valued at $60,570,122, as well as tobacco products to the value of $8,918,492, while the exports of leaf tobacco amounted to 478,773,000 pounds valued at approximately $137,000,000, and tobacco products valued at $29,490,000. There were 9,532,000,000 cigars exported during the year leaving 90,000,000,000 factory made cigars for consumption in the United States. Revenue collected during the year amounted to $369,605,000.

Of the total number of "large" cigars, 2,676,000,000 were intended to retail for not more than 5 cents. The character of the cigars manufactured in the several districts varies greatly. About two-thirds of the total production of cigars in Florida was intended to retail for more than 8 cents each. On the other hand, about 93 per cent of the total production in Virginia was intended to retail for not more than 5 cents. West Virginia and the 23rd District of Pennsylvania, the home of the "stogie," also show a very large percentage of the total production to retail for 5 cents or less.

FARMERS GAIN BY ELECTRIC SERVICE

State Committee Recommends
Utility Companies Pay Service Cost

Madison—(AP)—Rural electric service from central stations has proved itself practical for improved sections of Wisconsin, a progress report of the state committee on application of electricity to agriculture declares.

Prepared by F. W. Duffee, committee member, the report states that the majority of farmers now having such service are not, however, obtaining the greatest advantages from it. The committee was organized in 1924 for the purpose of determining the practicability of various electrical uses.

A recommendation that the utilities pay for the electrical lines, in keeping with general practices in cities, is made by the committee. If the farmer has to pay for the line, the committee concludes, cash that might be used in purchasing equipment is necessarily tied up.

"A rather extensive survey made not long ago," the report says, "reveals that the average annual cost of owning and operating an individual electric light plant approximates $121.00 with a probable average consumption not to exceed 30 kilowatt hours per month."

"Up to the present time some 23 electrical applications have been investigated, of which the following have been found practicable under the conditions studied: (1) pumping water for stock, (2) milking machine, (3) any power operation using from three to five horsepower, (4) heating water for washing dairy utensils (5) artificial lighting of poultry houses to increase egg laying, (6) big motors with portable transformers for threshing and silo filling, where special arrangements can be made with the power company for connecting the transformers when power is wanted, and (7) electric incubators and brooders."

"The following applications have

COUNTY TO RECEIVE BIDS ON AUTO, TRUCK TIRES

The county highway committee will receive sealed proposals at 2:30 on July 6 for truck and automobile tires ranging from 30 by 3 and one half to 41 by 10, according to A. G. Bruesch, county highway commissioner, Wednesday morning. The committee reserves the right to reject all bids not meeting with the specifications.

UNIVERSITY GYM BILL SOON BEFORE SOLONS

New Field House Will Increase Athletic Accommodations at Madison

Madison—(AP)—With the fate of the Wisconsin athletic field house bill to be determined by the legislature in the very near future, Director George Little is continuing his drive for increased facilities and improvements for the conduct of his outdoor sports program. Little has high hopes for the passage of the measure which will give the Badgers a new gymnasium, after years of cramped conditions in the old Armory.

The endorsement of the Joint Finance Committee was encouraging, and indicates that the members of this group are in sympathy with the policies of the Wisconsin physical education department. However, while been found practical and economical on the average farm but the cost of the equipment in many cases makes it prohibitive: (1) electric cooking, where cheap fuel is not available on the farm, (2) electric refrigeration for the household and dairy.

"The following applications have not been found practical or economical: (1) house heating, other than small heaters for incidental auxiliary heating, (2) field work with electric motors, (3) ultra violet ray treatment for ordinary farm conditions, and (4) heating water for the household."

the outcome of the new indoor plant hangs in the balance, the wheels have been set in motion along other lines.

The Wisconsin Board of Regents and Athletic Council have authorized a preliminary study and the receipt of estimates on additions to Camp Randall stadium, re-surfacing and seeding of athletic fields, grading and developing of new intra-mural areas, and preparation of a number of tennis courts.

State Architect Penbody will present figures in a few days on the cost of completing the horse-shoe in the Stadium with concrete seats. This would include the filling in of all sections A and B in the west stands and the upper rows in the other sections on the same side of the field.

The "improvement of fields and tennis courts would give the Badger coaches a new Frosh gridiron and baseball diamond, five new intra-mural gridirons and twenty-two courts. If this program is completed by fall, Wisconsin students will have a dozen football fields at their disposal, including the varsity facilities.

HOP OVER PACIFIC IS JUST ANOTHER
'STUNT' FOR GRACEDare-devil Flyer Has Crashed
22 Planes, Most of Them
Deliberately

BY DAN THOMAS
Los Angeles—Flying alone across the Pacific from Honolulu to San Francisco is a dangerous, nerve-racking stunt. But to Richard Grace it is only the latest in a long succession of hazardous enterprises. He has risked his neck so often—in fact, he broke it once—that a mere 2,000-mile flight over the ocean couldn't daunt him.

Grace is 29. Ever since he was 16 he has earned his living by risking his life. For 16 years he has practically lived in the air. He has been a "stunt flyer" of the most reckless variety.

In 1915, while making a forced landing, Grace learned that he could put a gliding plane on the ground just about where he chose. Since then he has crashed 22 planes, 14 of them deliberately.

Most of this has been done for the movies. The Hollywood studios have known Grace as the one aviator for whom too risky a job could not be found. He would, literally, do anything.

The climax of his long succession of escapades came last fall. Grace had a part in the war movie, "Wings." He crashed a plane from a height of 2,000 feet—and broke his neck. That, at least, was the first report. A more thorough examination disclosed that he had merely dislocated two vertebrae. He was given expert attention, recovered and went on to do some more stunts.

His career as a stunt man in the movies took him into more hazardous situations—and out of them—than he can count. For a time he doubled for Tom Mix, performing the dangerous maneuvers that are not permitted to a high-priced star. Once he was called on to change from one plane to another, high above the ground.

At times, demand for air stunts being low, Grace has taken to other forms of daredevilry to earn his living. Four different times, performing for the movies, he wrecked automobiles while traveling at a high rate of speed. Each time he escaped with a whole skin, somewhat to the surprise of the men who were focussing the cameras on him.

Grace realized full well that he had taken his life in his hands in situations where it seemed like an incredibly foolish venture. His many escapes gave him a confidence in his own luck that could not be shaken.

"If anyone can make the jump from the Hawaiians to America, I can," he said. "I seem to have some sort of a good luck charm—or else I would have been killed long ago. Anyway, I am confident that I can make the hop. And if the ship comes down—well, I am a pretty good swimmer."

SOCIAL ITEMS AT MENASHA

The Germania society will hold its next meeting at its hall Tuesday, July 5, instead of Monday, July 4. The change is made because Monday is a holiday.

Mrs. John Hanson entertained the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club at her home on Elm-st. Mrs. Robert Ebert and Max Boehm won the prizes.

Mrs. Helen Jung was hostess to the Social Eight club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Taylor-st. Schafkopf was played and the prizes were won by Mrs. John Cox, Mrs. Mary Hackstock and Mrs. Myse of Appleton.

Fifteen members of the Sunshine club of the Menasha Women's Relief corps were entertained informally Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Cornish, 252 Kaukauna-st. Refreshments were served.

INJURED MAN RECOVERS

Menasha—H. H. Held, 403 Nicholson-bldg. who suffered a fractured rib and severely bruised last week when he was knocked down by an automobile while crossing N. Commercial-st., Neenah, is out of bed and able to get about with the aid of a cane. His injuries still cause him considerable pain.

EUROPE'S IDEA OF AMERICA CHANGED BY OCEAN FLYERS

Airmen Prove Real Mettle of U. S. Citizens; Lindbergh Idolized

BY MINOTT SAUNDERS

Paris—For a long time the United States has been represented here as a youngster whose success has gone to his head and, wallowing in wealth, has gone crazy over bootleg whisky and profits. University suicides, drunken debutantes, society divorcees and metropolitan murders have featured the news from the United States. In this maze of misrepresentation the idealistic America was lost.

Then came Lindbergh. And then Chamberlin, accompanied by the man of money, Charles Levine, who came to prove that his business and his wealth meant nothing to him compared to his reputation.

The reaction has been remarkable. The misunderstandings of American life have been corrected. The country that can produce such men is not what America was supposed to be. The breed of Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Levine is conceived in the land of youth, of progress, of ideals and of strength.

France loved Lindbergh because he came out of the night, a fresh, strong American boy, who recalled memories of 1917. Germany honored Chamberlin and Levine because they stopped for no international boundaries, but drove on until the last quart of gas, carrying their message of goodwill. All civilized peoples reacted to these exploits.

In Rome the "Popolo d'Italia," a prominent newspaper inspired by Mussolini, expressed the European reaction as follows:

"America has come forward with a youthful race to which all the peoples of the earth have contributed in blood and intelligence. Fresh, joyous, healthy and energetic only because of the vital exuberance, the American race is able to bring forth men like Lindbergh and Chamberlin, whose will is clear as a steel ingot, and men like that millionaire Levine, who after trying to make a publicity 'stunt' out of the great flight, at the last moment jumps into the cockpit of the machine and he, too, braves the perils of the ocean."

In a more practical sense, American aviation has been placed on a sturdier basis by these two flights that is causing genuine concern in rival countries. France particularly felt that she had taken the most useful air records from America and could hold them. The fact that both these achievements were accomplished by commercial planes, and that many of the old ideas of long-distance flying have been proven unsound, is causing much concentration of thought on the part of European designers. In any new question on the science of aviation, the feats of Lindbergh and Chamberlin must now be taken into account.

In the light of widespread consequences, the pride of the United States in the heroes of the hour can hardly be exaggerated. These men have wrought what was beyond their dreams.

SHAWANO PREPARES FOR LEGION MEET

Appleton Band to Furnish Music for Fourth Celebration; Plan Ball Game

Shawano—The plans for the second annual Fourth of July celebration to be staged here by the local post of the American Legion have been completed and the present outlook is that with good weather prevailing, the Legionnaires will be hosts to one of the largest crowds in the city's history.

The opening event of the day will be the industrial parade, which will be held at 10 o'clock. Entries have been promised by practically every business organization in Shawano and prizes have been offered for the best comical entries and the best floats. The famous 120th Field Artillery band of Appleton has been secured to furnish music throughout the day. A feature of the afternoon will be a baseball game between Clintonville and Shawano teams of the Wolf River Valley league, the winner to receive a purse of $150.

Five of the best acts that the bookers could furnish will be a part of the free exhibitions, and may be seen in the afternoon and evening. Another attractive part of the afternoon program will consist of auto races and contests and races of all kinds for everyone.

BUSINESS BUREAU WARNS BUYERS OF HOSIERY

The methods used by fly-by-night sellers of hosiery who sell their product at a much cheaper price than retail stores, is explained in a report from the National Better Business Bureau, Inc., received by the chamber of commerce.

So-called seconds and imperfectly woven stockings and socks, the report says are purchased by individuals who sell them at a ridiculous price putting local retailers in a bad light with their customers.

It is said the average buyer of hosiery knows so little about weaves and the quality of his purchase that what appears to him as perfect hosiery is often a second. To combat this practice the reliable hosiery manufacturers are stamping all imperfect and irregular hosiery so that a buyer will be warned as to the standard of his purchase.

COUNCIL WILL LET BUILDING CONTRACT

Plan to Finish Alicia Park Structure in Month; Will Cost $10,000

The contract for the new building to be erected at the tourist camp site in Alicia park, which will be announced by the common council at its meeting next Wednesday.

The work will start as soon as possible in an effort to complete the structure in about a month. The new building will be part of a program of improvements for the park.

It was authorized by the council recently. The cost of the entire improvement will be about $10,000.

New tables and benches have been built at the park and are in use. Water mains carrying water to several faucets in the park and a sewer system also are included in the improvement. The new building will include rest rooms for men and women, a large recreation room and a large screen enclosed porch.

Direction arrows have been completed by E. E. Lutz, caretaker and will be placed under the direction of the engineering department.

errone. The large pavilion will be in use during afternoon and evening for dancing and music will be furnished by a seven-piece orchestra.

The display of fireworks which will illuminate the evening sky will be the most lavish ever seen in this section of the state.

SOUNDS WARNINGS ON PARCEL POST

Postmaster Declares Many Patrons Do Not Comply With Mail Rules

Parcel post parcels sent by fourth class mail may not include instructions of any kind or written or printed matter not pertaining to the article in postage. Bags of wool to local mills have come from patrons with letters of instruction included. Often sealed parcels without the special printed permit pasted thereon are received. When mistakes occur in regard to this regulation, the only recourse is for the sender to write to the third assistant postmaster at Washington, D. C., and if he finds the excuse pardonable, he may at his discretion request the local office to refund the first class postage charge. Usually a small fee such as 25c is required of the sender.

Some people intentionally send parcels with printed instructions, etc., but these are in the minority, the postmaster believed.

Sealed parcels of merchandise and other fourth class matter may be mailed at the fourth class rate of postage, provided the parcels are labeled in printing to show the nature of the contents, and include the printed name and address of the manufacturer, producer or shipper, and the statement that the package may be opened for postal inspection if necessary. Violations of the regulation through the placing of unauthorized inclosures in sealed parcels will lead to the withdrawal of the privilege of mailing sealed parcels in such manner and constitute an offense punishable by a maximum fine of $100.

Your Only Unclipped Dollar!

CLIP, CLIP! SNIP, SNIP! Ever since 1913 — through the war days and after — the purchasing power of your dollar has been steadily clipped down.

Today, on the item of household goods, it's only a fifty-cent dollar or less. Shoes, fabrics, foods, building materials — down through the whole list of staple commodities — it's the same story with only one notable exception.

That's gasoline! At today's prices gasoline is at the foot — far at the foot — of the government's schedule of staple products that have suffered price advances.

Get that! Gasoline. The only commodity practically back to the full-dollar's-worth level.

But that's not HALF the real story. Add in the important factors of today's improved motors and better roads and your gas-per-mile costs way LESS than at any time since the guns boomed at Verdun. On other items you're paying from 50 to 250 per cent more, an average of around 80 per cent on them all! Today your gas costs less! The ONLY product of which that is true!

In the face of that fact, could the most miserly spirit of economy deem it an extravagance to use

Wadhams 370 True Gasoline 370 THE YEAR-ROUND GASOLINE

Why should you refuse your motor the superiorities that you can actually feel under the throttle in the immediate running mile and that you know extend to unseen protection and preservation of your motor condition throughout its life?

For a span of years Wadhams has enjoyed the admitted position of being the highest quality gasoline anywhere offered to a broad public. It has always heretofore commanded a premium price for that quality. Repeatedly it has demonstrated that such quality is even more vital to motors in summer than in winter.

Now, sum those up and answer. With price leveled to the same as other high's, but with quality unchanged, can there remain a single reason for denying your motor the known superiorities of 370?

PROTECTING THE INDIAN

The assembly is to be commended for adopting a resolution in behalf of the Menominee Indians and the protection of their reservation against exploitation by water power interests. There can be little doubt that the comparatively few Indians who have been made to appear in the light of approving lease of dam sites to private companies have been misrepresented, and that they do not fully understand what they have done or its consequences. We think there is no doubt that a large majority of the Menominees are against bartering away their invaluable rights in the Wolf River. There is furthermore every indication that the attempt to secure these rights has not been made in an entire good faith.

Throughout the undertaking the Indians have been at a heavy disadvantage. In the beginning they lacked competent advice. They could not place reliance in either the department of Indian affairs or the Federal Water Power board, neither of which agency seems to exist for safeguarding and promoting the Indian's welfare. The agent with whom they have to deal directly appears to have been of doubtful service. The water power interests have had much their way so far as official channels are concerned.

Disinterested citizens of Wisconsin believe the Indians have been imposed upon and that it would be to their irreparable loss to sign away power sites on their reservation to private interests. Public disapproval of the scheme of water power companies to exploit the Wolf has been widespread and emphatic throughout Wisconsin. It has been opposed by the Izaak Walton league, by chambers of commerce, service clubs, women's clubs and many other organizations. In fact, the condemnation of the entire procedure has grown until today it is a matter of statewide concern.

There is neither need nor excuse for appropriating to power uses the Wolf river through the reservation at this time. So far as power is concerned, the state of Wisconsin will get along exactly as well without the development as with it. The amount to be developed is relatively small, but it has been charged that it will release power now utilized in Wisconsin to Illinois. If the time ever comes when it is desirable or necessary in our industrial economy to develop power on the Wolf through the Menominee reservation it should be done solely for the profit of the Indians. It is, however, a question today and it will continue to be a question, whether the reservation will not be more valuable to them with the Wolf left in its natural state, and whether they will not profit more in the long run by preserving intact the attractions of this exceptionally beautiful region.

At any rate, it is the duty of Wisconsin and its people to do all they can to see that the Menominees are not taken advantage of, that whatever disposition of the Wolf is made is with their full understanding of the facts and consequences and that their true interest be served in every possible way. The action of the Wisconsin legislature should bring the matter to an issue in Washington in such a way as to prevent the hasty and unjust bartering away of the Indians' rights. It will undoubtedly be made the subject of investigation by congress.

OUR POROUS FRONTIERS

Only 750 men stand guard on our 7,000 miles of Canadian and Mexican borders to halt the invasion of aliens who slip through in violation of the law and in consequence it has been estimated that 1,000 enter illegally every day while a conservative estimate places the number at 100,000 a year. Which leads to the question—how valuable are our immigration laws which stop at our front doors those who would be desirable citizens, while through our back doors sneak the undesirables of the world?

The condition is one which has given rise to a very lucrative profession—the bootlegging of aliens. This traffic has its agents in the capitals of Europe and Asia. Salesmen of the easy route to the land of high wages tell those who are impatient of national quotas that they need not wait their turn. These salesmen point out that the government charges $18 for inspection and the applicant may be sent home. The alien who comes in the back door doesn't fear physical and mental examinations for there aren't any.

As a result of this condition it is estimated that there are 1,000,000 aliens in the United States who have no right here at all. James J. Davis, secretary of labor, after a recent airplane inspection of the Mexican border said, "If we had the whole army guarding the Mexican and Canadian borders and the navy lined along the waterfront, we could not stop this invasion by infiltration."

The question is, is there anything we can do about it, and if so, what?

THE DUNCAN BEER BILL

The senate, by a vote of 17 to 14, has concurred with the action of the assembly in passing the Duncan beer bill, which now goes to the governor for disposition. It is the expectation in Madison he will sign it. It provides that penalties for violation of the state's prohibition laws shall not apply where the liquor in question does not contain more alcohol than 2.75 per cent by weight. While this newspaper believes that beer of the above alcoholic content and even larger is harmless and should be available to the people, the method taken by the legislature to get it is neither honest nor sincere. In the first place, it is attempting to legalize something it has no power to legalize. In the second place, it is trampling under foot the constitution of the United States, which it is sworn to uphold, together with an amendment that it expressly ratified at the time it was submitted to the states. This is not passive nullification, it is active defiance of the federal government.

The bill has been passed not with the idea of conferring upon the people of Wisconsin lawful right to make, sell and drink beer of 2.75 per cent alcohol, for it knows it can confer no such right, but to discredit prohibition and to help force upon the nation a reconsideration of its action in incorporating the eighteenth amendment into the constitution. It is a poor way to accomplish even this. There is only one right and honorable way to secure relief and that is to retrace the step taken in changing the fundamental law of the land and bring about its repeal. It is a question to what extent even modification can be carried and kept within the amendment.

The Duncan act, if it becomes a law, offers no protection for 2.75 per cent beer, except that the state and local authorities will do nothing to interfere. It will, undoubtedly, lead to wholesale attempts to evade and violate the Volstead act. Breweries may become more emboldened, and undoubtedly beer will be more plentiful and with it all other alcoholic drinks. The sale of intoxicants will be more open if not more generous in both saloons and roadhouses. This will guarantee nothing. There is still the federal government to reckon with. It can and doubtless will raid the more flagrant violators from time to time and we shall have more brewers and saloonkeepers fined and sent to jail. Whether we come out ahead in the project so far as personal liberty and the satisfying of our thirst go, will depend on the extent of federal interference and whether the debit account with courts and jails is less than the credit account from sales and coddling of our desires. And back of the whole will be the question of our allegiance to the constitution and the union of states.

THE FATE OF NINE HUNDRED

In a five year period 908 patients with gallbladder disease were admitted to the surgical service of Dr. John B. Beaver and Dr. Edward L. Bortz, approximately two females to every male. Of these patients, 452 had gallstones and 456 gallbladder inflammation with gallstones. Then there were 13 cases of cancer of the gallbladder.

Operation was done in 413 cases of the gallstone type and 412 cases of the stoneless type, and in eleven of the cases of cancer. Four patients refused operation, and operation was not considered advisable in 27 cases, because of advanced age or grave kidney or heart disease. One girl aged 11 who had suffered for two years with gallstone colic was operated on. Eight patients aged 70 were operated on.

All the cancer patients died within six months, except one patient aged 40, whose condition remains good six months after operation. The two cancer cases not operated on terminated fatally in four and six months respectively.

Twenty of the patients with gallstones died from post-operative shock, including three under the age of thirty years and three over the age of 60 years. Eleven of the patients with gallbladder inflammation without gallstones died from postoperative shock.

How many of these patients would have succumbed to the shock of gallstone colic or of peritonitis had they not been operated on, no one can estimate, but that's the way many victims of gallbladder disease go.

Of the 449 cases of gallbladder inflammation with gallstones, 250 cases were entirely relieved, completely cured by the operation. Of the 412 cases of gallbladder inflammation without gallstones, 266 cases were entirely relieved, completely cured by the operation. The condition was improved in 59 of the cases with stone and in 72 of the cases without stone. It remained unimproved in 17 cases with stone and 34 cases without stone. These statistics are the result of followup investigation after a period of three years.

Out of the total of 887 operations for gallbladder disease with and without gallstones coming during the cancer cases, followup investigation after the lapse of three years gave these figures:

Entirely relieved	555 cases
Condition improved	131 cases
Condition unimproved	52 cases
Deaths (complicated cases)	36
Deaths (complicated by other diseases)	42
Patients making no reply	45

There you are. Now if we could only compare with these figures the fate of a similar number of subjects of gallbladder disease treated without operation, one might arrive at some conclusion as to the better course to follow when so afflicted. Unfortunately, we haven't the statistics. The first choice for cowards like me, whatever braver folk may prefer, I have seen so many brave victims succumb to gallbladder disease with and without gallstones but positively without operation, and so few turn up their toes after such an operation, that I am sure I would not suffer from such disease long unless my doctor vetoed the idea of exploratory operation.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

All Set for the Big News

Where should I send for the book the government puts out for mothers to be? (Mrs. A. E. E.) Answer—Write to the government printer, Washington, D. C., and ask for a copy of the children's bureau pamphlet, "Prenatal Care." While you are at it you might as well include a dime for a copy of the children's bureau pamphlet, "Infant Care," which will come in handy after the big news arrives. I think it was the intention of congress, when the original appropriation for the children's bureau was made, to publish and distribute such literature free. But the little bureaucrats have gradually worked their own ideas into the administration, and their own ideas absorb the funds, so there is no money to pay for the free distribution. That's why they demand a nickel or a dime a copy for this so-called free government service.

Removal of Warts
Please tell me how to remove warts. We would like to see a really good picture of yourself in the paper. (Miss H. F.)

Answer—Often a single wart will disappear after a few paintings with tincture of iodine at weekly intervals. Or the famous corn plaster, which is made of a wax just as it is a corn—daily painting with a solution of 30 grains of salicylic acid in half an ounce of flexible collodion. For crops of warts, or for warts about the face or head, I advise surgical treatment and I warn you against amateur efforts. Don't let anybody know, but we deem it inadvisable to publish a really handsome picture of Doctor Brady because it might create a good deal of dissatisfaction among the murderers and others whose faces brighten the news from day to day.

Your Loss Is Migraine
I have been following your experimental treatment for migraine as outlined in a recent article. I am having wonderful success. I wish to ask one question. Is it necessary to take a tenth grain of thyroid tablet with each dose of two 5 grain calcium lactate tablets night and morning or just one thyroid tablet daily? I have been treated with thyroid gland tablet and found considerable relief, but nothing like the relief I have obtained from your calcium lactate and thyroid "experiment." (C. M. J.)

Answer—One was made up of the thyroid gland, but that should be limited to the duration of the experiment—10 weeks.

THE EMPHASIS OF RESTRAINT

Blessed is the writer who has learned by hard work that the most emphatic way of saying a thing is to say it simply. Some writers, even some who win distinction, never learn this lesson. In their dictation they remain sophomores to the end of their lives. They cannot bear to use a noun without hitching at least one and sometimes two or three adjectives cannot set down a verb by itself, without a couple of adverbs.

It is normal for a young writer to try for emphasis in that way but if he is a real writer he will gradually learn the habit. Joseph Conrad's novels can be divided into periods on the basis of their dictation. Conrad naturally had distinction of mind and even when his dictation was still sophomoric, his books had distinction, but later in life he learned to delete the unnecessary words and he thereby gained an emphasis that nothing else could have given.

As in the case of language there is emphasis in restraint in the action of a story also. Many writers are always forgetting that. A good case in point is James Boyd's "Marching On," which I discussed in this column recently. Restraint is so much a distinguishing characteristic of this beautiful novel that it is worth while calling attention to it for its own sake, aside from the other characteristics of the book.

In the movies they measure kisses by the yard. At the end of the man and the woman of the story usually indulge in a long, clinging embrace that takes several yards of film. The producers seem to imagine that the longer they can hold the clench the more impressive the emotion produced in the audience will be. In which they know nothing about the emphasis of restraint. After a little the irreverent ones in the back of the theatre begin to titter and what was meant to be a thing of beauty becomes comic.

"Marching On" illustrates something from which the movie producers might learn a lesson if they were real artists and were genuinely anxious to interpret emotion with emphasis. It is a haunting love story of great emotional beauty. It succeeds in producing a greater effect than all the scenes put together of heroes and heroes tearing their hair in emotional scenes and clinging together in long, passionate kisses. And yet in the whole of the novel there is not a single kiss, not even the suggestion of one. The most the author does is to let Stewart Provost, the planter's daughter, fondly put her hand over the hand of James Boyd, when weak and emaciated, he comes back from the Civil War after two years in a northern prison camp.

It is one of the best examples of the emphasis of restraint that I know. The Laura Jane Libby or Ethel M. Dell or Eleanor Glynn type of writer would, under the same circumstances, have filled their closing scenes with emotional kisses and embraces and the effect would have been more or less comic where it was meant to be highly emotional. James Boyd merely allows a touch of a hand and confines himself to that alone; the effect is that of reverend beauty and an emotion so deep and tender that it is not to be desecrated with words. No normal person could possibly titter at the love scenes in the book. The deep emotions of genuine people are never comic. Like Wordsworth's "thoughts are too deep for tears," they are too deep for laughter also.

And that is characteristic of the whole book—restraint. You are certain that James Boyd has a mature mind, even though this is only his second novel. His picture of slavery before the Civil War is only incidental, but I for one am convinced that it is a far truer picture than that given by Harriet Beecher Stowe in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." If for no other reason than that it has restraint, which Mrs. Stowe's picture lacks.

Greatest perhaps of all is the emphasis that is gained by restraint in the matter of the reader's sympathy for the south. Boyd, a southerner, does not rant about the south; he honestly sets down the south's faults, as he does the north's. We learn to regard the south's defeat as tragic and pitiful, thought necessary.

As a textbook in the art of restraint "Marching On" could not very well be surpassed.

See-Sawing On Broadway

By Gilbert Swan

New York — It's a safe bet that about 60 per cent of Manhattan at some time or other makes some serious effort towards going on the stage, writing a play or backing a show.

So completely is the New York atmosphere charged with theatrical zephyrs that a healthy percentage of all tea-table or parlor conversations start with, "Have you seen so-and-so?" "You can't miss it." Not to have attended a recognized Broadway hit becomes nothing short of a social error. Eyebrows are lifted disdainfully as you glushingly admit that you haven't got around to seeing "Broadway" for instance. The good folk wonder what on earth you are doing in the town.

Millions are dropped every year by sound business men who have piled up their fortunes through careful and methodical investments, but yield to a Broadway sire, one that sounds sour to the ear of any practiced theater man.

A check of a season's output in Variety, the theatrical publication, shows a solid column or more of failures to a mere dozen financial successes. And to top the failures, the social barometer is a bankroll. Many of the failures show losses that mount into the hundreds of thousands.

In the young society circles the vogue for getting on the stage or into the films grows each season. The old social barriers between society and theater seem completely broken down. Few dowagers frown at the idea of their daughters taking to the theaters, nor do the good church folk frown so much upon this one-time "sinful" profession. One of the schools for the stage is invariably flanked by cars that bespeak the wealth of the youngsters attending. The little theater groups have drawn in sons and daughters, and mothers and daddies of the best families, who look upon such movements as "doing something artistic."

In one of the Village experiments last year there appeared a white-haired old fellow in his late sixties. He had made several fortunes in business, but in the "little theatre," he was content to come on as the butler. When money was needed he was drawn upon and someone told him he was being used as a mere "angel" and a "sucker."

The old fellow smiled and said he was quite aware of the fact. What difference did it make, he asked, since his connection with the group had increased his social standing many times in club circles. It was quite worth the money.

Q. When was the Taj Mahal built? Please give its dimensions. J. C. A.

A. The Taj Mahal is a mausoleum of white alabaster, mile east of Agra, built (1629-50) by Shah Jehan as a burial place for his favorite wife, Mumtaz-Mahal. It is said to have cost over $500,000. The building is octagonal, 130 feet in length and width and 70 feet high, exclusive of the dome, which rises 100 feet above the main mass. Four exquisite cylindrical minarets, 132 feet high, mark the corners of the superb platform on which it stands.

Q. In what year was the Liberty Magazine first published? A. A. G.

A. It was in 1914.

Q. How old is Natalia Crane, who wrote The Janitor's Boy? M. McC.

A. She was born August 11, 1913, so is now approaching fourteen.

Q. What kind of a musical instrument is the vibraphone? H. J.

A. The vibraphone is similar to a xylophone. The keys are of metal and beneath each key is a cylinder called a resonator. Each cylinder has a fan rotating within it which is driven by an electric motor, and this fan amplifies the sound giving it resonance.

Q. Is the water produced by melting hailstones pure? F. S.

A. Hailstones do not contain germs because they are formed by freezing in the higher levels of the air. Water is evaporated before it becomes hailstones and is practically the same as distilled water.

Q. What does deposes mean in a legal sense? A. E. R.

A. It means "to give testimony under oath" to make an affidavit.

Q. Can electric refrigerators be installed on pleasure boats? W. V. T.

A. A number of them are now successfully operated on pleasure boats.

AMPLE RECREATION FACILITIES ARE NECESSARY IN EVERY CITY

BY DON E. MOWRY
Secretary, The American Community Advertising Association
Any city that does not look out for the recreational activities of its people cannot expect to grow nor develop civic pride.
St. Petersburg, Fla., recognized this, and placed a $1,000,000 bond issue to build a new recreation pier.
Not every city is situated on the ocean as St. Petersburg, of course, but most cities have rivers, neighboring lakes, and beautiful bits of woodland which can be made available for a maximum of public enjoyment.

St. Petersburg's new pier is a massive structure of stone and concrete, has a double auto drive in the center with walks for pedestrians on either side. Small balconies give the fishermen exclusive places to cast their lines and land their catch.
At the pier head are two great ball fields with entrances through fifty arcades which encircle the four sides. The upper ball has a seating capacity of 10,000 while the lower ball is fitted with tables, chairs, and seats which face the bay. At the table luncheon are served from the inner restaurant. A promenade surrounds the entire head.

Jungle Breath

© 1927 by NEA Service

by Ben Lucien Burman

THIS HAS HAPPENED
To the queer little South American town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, a town fringed by dark forbidding jungle, comes an elderly American, LINCOLN NUNNALLY, a famous chemist.

An air of mystery seems to hang over the place. This impression is accentuated by the porter who handles Nunnally's grips, hints of strange deaths that have occurred and mumbles gloomy prophecies.

In the barber shop, the barber, a strange, dark man with an Oriental cast to his eyes, speaks to him as VILAKA WESLEY, known to him as VILAK, a fellow American. He asks Vilak what he is doing in Porto Verde. To his amazement, Vilak says he has sent for him, that he and his cousin, ELISE MARBERRY, own the Porto Verde Hotel and Casino, and need assistance in getting at the root of a mystery that already has cost several lives and threatened Elise's.

The barber business, Vilak explains, serves to conceal his real activities. In the midst of his explanation, word reaches him that another man has been murdered, and he and Nunnally hasten to the spot where the victim, TONY BARBETTA, one of his cousin's foremen, lies on the ground, still alive.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY

CHAPTER IV
Vilak drew a pin from the lapel of his coat and touched the point to Barbetta's arm. The flesh did not twitch as ordinary living flesh would have responded to the experiment, but the little Italian's eyes showed that he felt the pain.

"This is certainly unusual," Vilak whispered to his companion. "I could possibly have put him into such a state. His muscles are completely paralyzed, yet his sensations of pain aren't affected in the slightest." His blue eyes half closed and the closing accentuated their distinct Chinese cast. He stood thus a moment, lost in thought, then abruptly knelt beside the body. "I think I may have it," he whispered. "Take hold of his arm there. We'll try artificial respiration."

Nunnally leaned to obey. As he did so a step sounded near him. Prentiss, the archeologist, came forward from the bushes where he had been watching, the curious mark on his forehead suddenly aglow. "You can't save him," he muttered. "No power on earth can save him."

Vilak glanced up, peered at him an instant, then with Nunnally began alternately lifting Barbetta's arms above his head and pressing them against his chest. There was a slight movement, and restored breathing at the Italian's lips; the pain evident in his eyes lessened. For ten minutes the two friends labored vigorously, then one of Barbetta's legs jerked feebly.

"I think we've won," Vilak murmured.

Five minutes later Barbetta was staggering to his feet. With Latin passion he shook his fist at the handcuffed Englishman who had watched him lie outstretched. Then he turned to those around him and gasped. "I tell you, Meester Riggs," he burst out, "you're a badda man. He try to kill me like he kill me. You will tell her he try to kill her? You will tell? You will tell?" He gasped violently for breath.

Vilak nodded. "I'll tell her, Tony," he said soothingly. "Don't you worry. And he hasn't killed you. You're all right now. You're not going to die. You're going to live a long time. You'll take a long rest. Then go back to Italy maybe and see your mother and father. Tell me what happened?"

The Italian shivered and clutched Vilak's arm for support. "I tell you. Sure I tell you. I near my house. In bushes. You know my house. Pretty house. Little red roof. Like housey in Italy. Looked for snakes who steal my little chickens. Then I see a man creeping through bushes. I wait. He comes closer. I see him. It is Limey. Limey the badda. The evil Limey that I hate. In his hand is something. I think he come to do me harm. I want him far, oh far from my little house with the red roof. He badda man, badda Englishman. I follow through the bushes. And then I see Miss Marberry in the road driving in her car. It is she he follows. And then I have great fear for her. For the last days have I heard him talk much against her. Evil talk. Because last week she have make me head foreman and not him. He climbs a tree to a limb where the leaves well hide him. He holds his knife. But I Tony, I see his plan. When the carriage will pass under the tree, he will jump down upon it and kill her."

He went on feverishly. "I cross to the road where it is not so bushy. where I can run faster and war, her. I run. I cry out. 'Run Miss Marberry! Run! Fast!' She hear. She drives fast. Too fast for him to fall upon her. She is gone. Limey jumps from the tree to the ground. He runs after me. 'What you mean by screaming like that, you dago blighter?' He shout. 'What you mean? What you mean?' I not dago blighter. Good Italian. Good American. No. His voice suddenly dropped to a whisper. His face resumed its gray pallor. His grip on Vilak's arm became weaker than a child's. "He kills me," he murmured. "He kills me. An' he kills Miss Marberry like he kills me. Tell her, tell her. He pitched forward and fell to the ground."

Vilak touched his wrist. "Dead," he pronounced laconically. The gendarme looked in a sort of stupid awe at the motionless body, then began to move off with his prisoner. The Englishman turned to the barber. "It's damn dangerous, this dope dream," he crumbled. "A dope dream. You just remember that if they call on you to testify. You remember that and I'll make it all right with you. See? All he says about my killing him is true. I killed the blighter all right. But it was in self defense. He was wavin' a knife at me. Anybody'd kill if someone was wavin' a knife at him. Bloody well ought to. Will you remember?" His lip curved in an expression between a threat and a sneer.

The barber smiled affably. "Sure, boss," he said. "I'll remember."

were't in the bushes over near his house the way he said you were?" "Nowhere near his bloody house. And haven't seen Miss Marberry all afternoon. I was just walkin' along the road, comin' back from town, when he comes up to me and begins gettin' bloody nasty about that monkey I won from him playin' cards. You know all about that like every blighter in town does, so I says to him we'll settle the bloody thing right now, we will. We comes over here where we knows there won't be no bloomin' fools to interfere an begin fightin'. It was goin' all right, fair fightin', fair sport, an' I was beatin' the blighter when he outs with his knife an comes wavin' it at me. So I picks up that club bloody quick and hits him with it."

He turned and glowered at the black policeman at his side. "An' I wouldn't be sorry I done it either if I didn't have to stay in one of their nasty jails. Oh, it's a bloody life. Don't you forget when they bring you to court that all he said about me and Miss Marberry is lies."

The policeman and his prisoner began to move off toward the town. The grimy-limbed Prentiss, who had moved back a few yards from the circle of onlookers, stepped into their path. The mark on his forehead glowed vividly again as he glanced, first at the rainbow-hued gendarme then at the scowling captive. His lips moved slightly; he seemed about to speak.

"What ees it you would say?" the policeman grunted.

The question seemed to bring Prentiss to a decision. He mumbled something to himself, spat scornfully upon the ground, shrugged his shoulders and again taking hold of his straw basket, which Vilak saw was filled with cans of condensed milk, walked briskly away. A wide lane quickly opened in the crowd of motley half-breeds to let him pass, while two or three of the bolder muttered a curse and after he had disappeared drew knives across their throats in ugly, dramatic portrayal of what they would do if they dared.

Vilak and Nunnally slowly retraced their steps to the town. For a while they walked in silence. Then with an effort the chemist threw off the gloom which had enveloped him, and began searching once more for his matches, which had again eluded him. "Er . . . Porto Verde . . . er . . . confess I'm getting old. Ten years ago, I would have been enthusiastic . . . enthusiastic at the opportunity of witnessing the . . . er . . . scientific aspects of a death like that one. But this was not pleasant." He grew thoughtful. "Could there be any . . . or . . . connection between the two men I saw making . . . er . . . signals and this . . . er . . . tragedy?"

"I don't know, mon cher," "Your . . . er . . . cousin will surely leave Porto Verde, now, will she not? After such a deliberate . . . er . . . attack upon her life?"

"I'm afraid you don't know my cousin. I'll warn her again, but it will be simply wasted energy. She'll get all the keener to stay and find out what's at the bottom of it."

"Times have . . . er . . . changed. In my day a woman was a . . . er . . . hussy if she did not faint at the sight of a scratched . . . er . . . finger. Yes, faint. But even your . . . er . . . modern cousin would have been affected. Barberry, have you any idea yet as to the cause of that extraordinary . . . er . . . paralysis?"

Vilak withdrew from his pocket a thin bronze cigarette case, a bit of expert Oriental workmanship fashioned in the form of a Chinese dragon. He pressed it. It snapped open, exposing a row of brown cigarettes. "Stop looking for those matches and lace and lavender cigarettes of yours, and try one of these favorites of mine," he invited. "They're good for old men's nerves. Cheer you up. A little discovery I made down in the Malay Peninsula on my last trip east. I make them out of perique and the ground-up leaf of the eucalyptus. May find them a little bitter. But they're powerful as opium. Maybe they'll give you the answer to your question about the paralysis. I haven't it. In fact my ideas on the entire subject of Tony's death are notably vague and scanty. Except that I'm quite positive that Limey Potts did not kill him."

(To Be Continued)

If Limey Potts did not kill Barbetta, who did? In the next chapter a mysterious investigation gets under way.

UNIVERSITY CAMP COLONY CROWDED

Summer Session Attendants Mix Studies With Outdoor Pursuits

Madison—Camp life in a tent with a lake shore on the side are combined with the facilities of higher education at the University of Wisconsin summer school.

The university's "ten colony," annual feature of the summer session, is again crowded with married couples seeking further instruction in scholastic pursuits.

Children also populate the miniature colony and special arrangements are made for them to secure the benefits of outdoor life, together with periods of instruction. Approximately 42 couples are registered in the camp this summer according to figures from the university.

The tent colony provides a means by which men and women are able to attend summer school at the university without leaving their families at home. Tent platforms, fuel, drinking water are furnished by the University of Wisconsin, thus making the cost of living relatively cheap.

The colony is located in the district known as College Hills, on the shore of Lake Mendota. The occupants of the colony use their automobiles to go to and from their classes on the campus.

Arbor Day was started by ex-Governor J. S. Morton of Nebraska. The first was celebrated in 1872.

Club Sends Delegates To Conference

Delegates to the Womens Missionary convention to be held early in August at Lomira were appointed at the regular meeting of the Womens Missionary society of Emanuel Evangelical church, Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lydia Gorges, 900 N. Superior-st. Mrs. Amos Greb was appointed delegate with Mrs. Albert Albrecht as alternate.

About 30 members of the society attended the meeting. Mrs. Ben Lutz read the third chapter of the study book, "Our Temple is Holy." A selection was sung by Miss Hilred Neinstedt and the Rev. J. F. Neinstedt gave a short talk on the Italian Mission in Milwaukee. The scripture lesson was read by Mrs. B. Sailerlich.

The next meeting of the society on the last Thursday in July, will be an outdoor meeting at the home of Charles Riesenbier. The girls' circle is in charge of arrangements.

LARGE CROWD AT BENEFIT PARTY

More than 125 persons attended the strawberry festival and card party Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William Zimmerman, 1549 N. Richmond-st., under the auspices of Group 2 of the Christian Mothers society of St. Theresa congregation for the benefit of the new church.

Nineteen tables of cards were in play in the afternoon and about nine at bridge by Mrs. Van Rybin, Mrs. J. Wolf, and Mrs. John Burke; at schafkopf by Mrs. LaFond, Miss Mary Ertl and Joseph Kohl and at dice by Mrs. Maizie Chase, Miss Martha Boehler and Mrs. Edward Cummings.

The group will hold a business meeting on Thursday, July 14, at the home of Mrs. John Umhuth at which time plans will be discussed for another social.

The pointer for today is: AN ORIGINAL NO TRUMP GENERALLY SHOWS THREE SUITS STOPPED; BUT AN EVENLY DIVIDED HAND WITH TWO STRONG SHORT SUITS MAY BE A SOUND NO TRUMP.

My answer slip reads:
 No. 13. South (Dealer) should bid one No Trump.
 No. 11. South one Club; West should double.
 No. 15. After two passes; North should pass.
 No. 16. After three passes; East should pass.

My reasons in support of these declarations are:
 No. 13. The two-suit—or, as it is sometimes called, the Class B—No Trump for years has been recognized as a sound initial bid. It is made with two strong short suits, even when the other two suits are defenseless. When one of the two strong suits contains four cards, it is a better bid than No Trump; but with the above hand, the choice is between a No Trump and a pass, with the No Trump the more advantageous.

No. 11. An excellent double. The hand has the requisite high-card strength and, while it does not contain any Diamond honors, it nevertheless has four cards of that suit; so if it is selected by the partner, requisite support will be furnished.
 No. 15. The two-suit No Trump is only bid in an initial position; that is, by Dealer or Second Hand after a pass. It is not a sound risk after partner has passed.
 No. 16. There is no suit-bid to be thought of in the hand a short suit—that is, one of three cards or less—should never be bid originally, and with two defenseless suits, a Fourth Hand No Trump is not advisable.

WISCONSIN WEATHER

Local thunderstorms, probably this afternoon or tonight, followed by fair Saturday; cooler.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The low pressure area over the west and northwest is now moving eastward having advanced 300 to 400 miles during the past 24 hours. It is now causing showers over the plain states and may cause thundershowers in this section this afternoon or tonight as its trough crosses this section. Higher pressure, with generally fair and cooler weather, follows the "low" and is expected to advance its influence to this section by Saturday, with generally fair and cooler weather over the weekend. The heat wave continues over the central valleys and eastern states, to be broken only after the "low" passes.

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSKAUKAUNA HOPEFUL
AS IT PREPARES TO MEET ANCIENT FOEGehrmen Want to Take Measure of Appleton Sunday Afternoon

Kaukauna—Both of the Kaukauna ball club's opponents over the coming weekend won their last games. Appleton defeated Oshkosh 10 to 6 at the former place while Kimberly was winning a 7 to 4 victory from the strong Menasha club. Kaukauna journeys to Appleton Sunday where it will engage the fighting papermakers in a decidedly hard game. This will be the first time Kaukauna has played in Appleton.

Appleton garnered 13 hits off of two Oshkosh pitchers last Sunday showing that the papermakers are hitting on all nine. The Sawdust City men got nine safeties off of Sternagel. It is quite probable that Sternagel will be used in Sunday's game or it may be that Reika will be called upon to pitch. The three City crew have been successful. Tomorrow will be used in the Appleton lineup in the place of Shields who broke his leg sliding to third in the Oshkosh game.

The Electric City crew figures that it has had just about enough reverses and that a good time to down the jinx will be in Appleton. Manager Alex Gehr will be able to choose his pitcher from among KRAFT, Koch and Gertz. The three pitchers have had two week's rest and should be good. The boys believe if they can get going Sunday afternoon they can come out with their winning streak on Monday when the league leader, Kimberly, comes to town. The millmen are looking for an easy victory, in fact they have saved their weakest pitcher for the occasion. Roebuck has been slated for mound duty against Kaukauna and if the Gehrmen have anything to say about the game Roebuck will be sent to the showers in a hurry.

Kimberly expects its greatest battle from Green Bay in the Sunday game. A win by both Green Bay and Kaukauna over the league leaders would tighten up the league race. The Electric City crew is one game behind the fifth place Neenah squad and nothing would appeal to the local team better than to vacate the cellar in favor of the Lakeside City outfit. The Kaukauna lineup for Sunday will be the same as used against Green Bay with perhaps one or two changes in the infield.

BANKERS COP GAME
FROM MULFORD TEAMTeams Closely Bunched as They Start Second Round of Season

Kaukauna—The Bankers got into the win column of the second round of the Kaukauna Twilight league schedule on Thursday evening by gaining a 9 to 1 decision over Mulford, showing the latter from first down to a tie with Thilmann for fourth place while the Bankers went into a tie for sixth with the Postals and Homans. Mulford will have an opportunity to tie for first on Friday evening when it meets Thilmann in a postponed game at the municipal playgrounds. While the winner of the fray will tie for first the loser will go into a tie for fifth with three other squads.

One of the big surprises of the week was the sensational climb of the Volleyballers who went from the cellar to a tie for first place. These same Volleyballers finished last in the first round after failing to win a game in seven chances. The squad has won its last two games and threatens to be among the leaders at the finish. Andrews Oils' win over Homans put them into a tie for first place. Another surprise of the week was the Electricians' one-sided victory over the Postals, which gave the electricians a tie for first with the Volleyballers and Oils.

The standings:

Volleyballers	W. L. Pct.
Electricians 1 .500
Andrews Oils 1 .500
Thilmann 1 .500
Mulford 1 .500
Homans 1 .500
Postals 1 .500
Bankers 1 .500

DYNAMITE OLD MILL TO RECOVER BUILDING STONE

Kaukauna—An old Kaukauna landmark passed out of existence Wednesday afternoon when members of the Kaukauna Post of the American Legion blew up the old Badger Pulp mill on the island. The antiquated stone building crumbled to the ground. The stones in the building will be used to build the river wall between the city garage and the Wisconsin bridge. The Badger Pulp mill was one of the first built at Kaukauna. About 1900 the mill was pulled to make room for making pulp and the machinery was removed. The Kaukauna Pulp Co. used the old building for a pulp ware house until a few years ago when paper mill burned down and the building was abandoned.

The Post-Crescent's representative at Kaukauna is Gordon Patton. His telephone numbers are 298 J and 10. Business with The Post-Crescent may be transacted through Mr. Patton.

SIXTH-ST RESIDENTS
WANT STREET PAVED

Kaukauna—An effort is being made by the taxpayers on Sixth-st, between Main-ave and Ninth-ave, to have that street paved. A meeting of the taxpayers has been called for 7:30 Friday evening in the council rooms of the municipal building for the purpose of discussing the proposal. Nineteen and thirteen taxpayers have taken the initiative to have these two streets paved, taxpayers on several other streets have circulated petitions for paving. Some have been successful while others have failed. A petition is now being circulated on Desnoyers-st for paving that street from Wisconsin-ave to Tobacco-st.

Practically all of the taxpayers on the north side favor concrete pavement, but southsiders lean to Amie-site, tarvia or asphalt streets.

KAUKAUNA HAPPY OVER
ZWICK'S LATEST WIN

Kaukauna—Kaukauna followers of the boxing game were highly elated over Phil Zwick's win from the wily California Joe Lynch at Cleveland, Wednesday evening. Zwick won seven of the ten rounds, according to a telegram received by Jacob Miller on Thursday. The wire stated that it was a tough fight. But the thing of most interest to the Kauw fight fans was that Zwick won his first main bout in Ohio from a man of national wide prominence. Lynch has fought a great many battles and is considered one of the best featherweights in the country. Within the last few months Lynch has had matches with Carl Tremaine, Tony Conzoneri and Shaw. Shaw is considered one of the best featherweights around Detroit, and Lynch gave him a bad beating.

Had Zwick lost this bout he would have been a long way off from another main bout but with this win to his credit he will be signed up for more headlines. His trainer, Wheatman, said in a letter previous to the Lynch fight that if Zwick won this bout he would be matched with Johnny Hill at Chicago. Hill is one of the hardest fighting Filipinos in the country.

According to Wheatman, Zwick's next fight will be on July 13 at Madison. His opponent hasn't been named.

GREEN BAY TEAM NEXT
OPPONENT OF CUBS

Kaukauna—The Kaukauna Cubs will go after their third consecutive victory Sunday at the Kaukauna ball park when they cross bats with the Newport club of Green Bay. This team is said to be considerably stronger than the Kelly club which they defeated in a 7 to 2 last Sunday. Mereness has been slated to do the pitching while St. Mitchell and Kilgas will be held in reserve. Dix will be on the receiving end.

If Mereness pitches Sunday the way he worked at Green Bay last Sunday the Kauw team are in for a tough time. Mereness whiffed 17 at Green Bay, including the highly touted Crabbe. Crabbe got but one hit in four times at bat and that was the first time up. The Cubs still are a little weak with the stick but the players are expected to boost their batting averages as the season progresses. Last Sunday's game was only the second game of the year for the squad.

Sunday's game is scheduled for about 2 o'clock.

INSTALL ANOTHER TRAP
AT GUN CLUB GROUNDS

Kaukauna—The new double trap purchased by the Kaukauna Gun club is being installed this week. The trap was bought from the Western Cartridge Co. This will make two double traps at the club grounds, sufficient for the Northeastern Wisconsin Trapshooting league shoot to be held at the local club grounds on Sunday morning, July 10. About $9 marked the cost of the trap.

E. S. Aschey of the Western Cartridge Co. is in charge of installing the trap.

Kaukauna will be paired against Oconto in the July league shoot and a four event victory will bring them close to the top. The Kauw marksmen won four events at Oconto and then lost four at Manitowish.

Joseph J. Jansen president of the Kaukauna Gun club, has been busy this week preparing the program for the meet. He expects to get it in the mail early next week.

POLICEMEN ORDERED TO PATROL TOURIST PARK

Kaukauna—R. H. McCarty, chief of police, has instructed the north side policemen to include the Kaukauna Tourist park in their beats. The park will be watched especially between 10 and 12 o'clock at night. This order has followed numerous complaints from residents in that section of misconduct in the park. To date the police have found nothing to substantiate the complaints.

At the last council meeting Alderman Bernard N. Faust, chairman of the police committee, reported the charges to the council and the mayor authorized him to instruct the chief of police to investigate immediately.

MARK PARKING PLACES
ON BUSINESS STREETS

Kaukauna—Lines and markings designating parking places in the north and south business districts are to be repainted by city employees. Large "no parking" signs have been placed on the sidewalks along the curb on a part of the municipal buildings.

KAUKAUNA PERSONALS
Kaukauna—Mrs. James Black and son Mervyn spent Thursday in Fond du Lac on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Proke left Thursday on an extended visit to Canada.

Miss Leta Wenzel will spend the Fourth of July in Chicago with friends.

KAUKAUNA TAILOR FINDS BROTHERS HE
LOST 37 YEARS AGOMartin Drawenek Locates
Relatives He Hasn't Seen
Since Leaving Germany

Kaukauna—Martin Drawenek, a tailor, who has a shop at 165 W. Wisconsin-ave, has found his brothers and sister he had not seen for 37 years, or since he said goodbye to them in their old home at Cologne, Germany, before sailing for America to seek his fortune. There was much grief at the Drawenek home for Martin was the first of five children to leave the fire-side. He promised he would write them.

For seven years the four brothers and one sister kept up the correspondence. All during the time, Joseph, George, John and their sister Elizabeth lived in the old Drawenek home. Their parents had died and they decided they would move to another part of the country. With the customary turmoil connected with moving Martin's address was lost and although Mr. Drawenek was his kinsmen in Germany many times he received no answer. Martin was 31 years of age when he came to America. His heart was set on settling in the great middle west, in fact in Wisconsin where many of his country people had settled. Mr. Drawenek went to Marquette where he lived for the first seven years and it was while he was living at Marquette that correspondence was discontinued because he no longer received answers to his letters to Germany.

Martin left Marquette and moved to Kaukauna where he has since lived. He has more success in his home town of Cologne, had moved to Talbot and Mr. Drawenek decided that this was a good idea and so last August he closed up his place of business on Wisconsin-ave, temporarily left for Michigan with his son, Joseph Drawenek and his wife.

The three reached Talbot and after the usual greetings were over, Martin Drawenek and Andrew Baltrum fell to talking about their birthplace, Cologne. Mr. Drawenek told his countrymen how he had lost track of his brothers and sister. This surprised Mr. Baltrum who said he had just heard from Germany that the three brothers and sister had left that country for somewhere across the ocean. Martin Drawenek pleaded with his friend to get in touch with his friends in Germany and endeavor to find out just where they were. Mr. Baltrum consented and several months later sent what he thought of as the correct addresses of the missing kinsmen to Mr. Drawenek.

Just a short time ago Mr. Drawenek received an answer from his brother Joseph, who was in Canada. He was told that his brothers and sister were all living in and around Winnipeg.

Friday evening Martin Drawenek will leave home for Winnipeg. At St. Paul he will meet his daughter Clara, who will make the trip to Canada with him.

Martin Drawenek's son, John E., a sailor in the United States navy and stationed at Birmingham, Wash., will go to Seattle, Wash., to meet one of the daughters of Joseph Drawenek who has married and lives in Seattle.

TWO WOMEN
FOUND HELPTheir Sickness Banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 208, Oxford, N. Y., writes—"If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as I should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women.

She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first, then I took two others. Now I am feeling quite strong again."

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If this medicine has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? At your druggists.

LEMON PRICES GO UP IF HEAT CONTINUES

General Decline in Prices of Fruits and Vegetables on Markets Here

Lemons will double in price within a few days if the hot weather continues, fruit dealers and grocers have predicted. They will advance $1 a case Saturday morning if there is no break in the weather, one wholesale dealer stated. They were selling at 40 cents a dozen Friday, the same as they have been, but lemon prices vary with the temperature, it was said.

Potatoes have dropped in price. New potatoes are selling for about 65c to 75c a peck. Old potatoes have gone from $3.50 to $1.50 a bushel within the last three weeks. With the incoming new potatoes, the jobbers could not hold the old potatoes at top prices any longer, it was stated.

Cantaloupes and watermelons are the best sellers among fruits in warm weather. Watermelons have been selling from 40 cents to 60 cents a piece and muskmelons and cantaloupes at 10 to 25 cents depending on their size. Bananas have flooded the market and are being sold from 5 to 10 cents a pound in most stores.

Oranges are selling from 40 to 85 cents a dozen depending on their size, and plums at about 25 cents a dozen.

Apples are priced about as the plums, and peaches are 45 cents a dozen. Apples and grapefruit are about gone, it was said. The box apples remain at about 5 cents apiece, and grapefruit are about three for 25 cents.

Cabbage is about 10 cents a head, head lettuce, 15 to 25 cents a head, and spinach at 10 cents a pound. Wax beans sell for about 35 cents a pound, and asparagus at 20 to 25 cents a bunch. New carrots are 10 cents a bunch, tomatoes, 15 to 25 cents a pound, and sweet potatoes 10 cents a pound. Beets were about 15 cents a bunch; radishes, 5 cents a bunch; peas, 25 cents a pound; cucumbers, the long green variety, 20 cents apiece and onions, 5 cents a bunch.

The prices vary to some extent in the different stores, but those quoted are about the average in Appleton this weekend.

FOUR BOYS PASS "Y" TESTS FOR SWIMMERS

Four members of the Learn to Swim class at the Y. M. C. A. have passed the swimming test in the association pool. The boys are Daniel Butler, Kirtland Wolter, R. H. Purdy, and Howell Conant. The test requires the boys to swim the length of the pool, or fifty feet.

Anton Koss, of Appleton, artesian well driller, struck a flowing well this week at the cottage of Charles Hoffmeyer on Strode's Island. The well throws a three-quarter inch stream and is 112 feet deep.

SOCIETY CIRCUS AT SEYMOUR

John Gree's Wild West Rodeo and Society circus will be one of the features at the holiday celebration of the Seymour Fair association July 3 and 4, the first large Fourth of July event in that city for several years at the fairgrounds. The circus was with Ringling Brothers circus for three years and the Florida State Fair association for the last three years. It is a complete show in itself, it was reported.

The rodeo and circus will present ten separate acts twice each day in front of the grand stand. They are: Half mile steeple chase, five horse in ten jumps, high school horse act, comedy bucking mule, trick and fancy riding, comedy hurdle mule, trick and fancy roping, riding outback bucking bronchos, half-mile relay races, Roman standing races, and jumping over an automobile filled with people.

Six wild steers will be turned loose and the cowboys will ride after them full gallop, jump from the horse, grab the steers by the horns and throw them in front of the grandstand. Cow girls will do fancy riding and racing.

In addition to Joe Gree's society circus, there will be three Derby races each day, a lumber wagon race, and an elaborate display of fireworks will close each night. They will be fired by an expert brought from Illinois. Ten acres of parking space for provided on the grounds.

LEGION COUNTY COUNCIL MEETS AT HORTONVILLE

The regular monthly meeting of the Outagamie county council of the American legion was held in connection with a dinner at Hoffman hotel Thursday evening at Hortonville. The new officers of the council who were elected last month were in charge of the meeting. H. J. Pettigrew of Milwaukee, formerly of Appleton and Earl Sullivan, Albion, N. Y., were guests.

Business was confined to routine matters and to the state convention of the legion at Marinette late this summer. Members of the council were asked to bring up matters of interest at the next county meeting.

With the enrollment of 65 new members in the boys department of the Y. M. C. A., the boy enrollment has reached a new high record. The total membership now is 425.

CUT WEEDS OR COST WILL BE CHARGED TO PROPERTY

Several complaints have been received by R. F. Hackworthy, street commissioner, from persons living next to vacant lots where the weeds have not been cut. Mr. Hackworthy again issued a warning Thursday that if weeds on vacant properties are not cut when the city employees reach the section of the city where they are located they will be cut and the cost charged against the property and included in the 1928 tax roll.

Mr. Hackworthy said several persons have cut the good grass from vacant lots to use for hay, but left the weeds standing, believing the street department will cut them but not charge the cost against the property, because the entire lot was not cleaned. If a street employee cuts any weeds from a lot the charge will be $1.50 as for a whole lot.

Sufficient warning has been given the property owners, "Mr. Hackworthy said," and they cannot make the excuse next spring that they didn't know they were to cut the weeds.

READY TO LET CONTRACT FOR ELK CLUB ADDITION

Contracts for building an addition on the southeast corner of Elk club house, construction of four more bowling alleys and for moving the heating plant to the proposed addition will be awarded soon, it has been announced. The improvements will be financed by a bond issue of $20,000 and purchasers of bonds may call for them at the First National bank next Tuesday, it was stated. Peter Goertl, an assistant cashier at the bank, has the bonds.

The clubhouse will be equipped with ten bowling lanes when the work is finished. The present swimming pool will be closed and the heating plant moved to make room for the new alleys. It is expected the work will be completed by Nov. 1.

COUNTY FARMERS "MAKE HAY WHILE SUN SHINES"

The hot weather of the last week has been excellent for harvesting clover. The hot sun dried the clover in a short time after it was cut. Some farmers reported that the hay dried without losing its color which means it is of good quality. The lack of rains during the week prevented the hay from being bleached after it was cut.

"TIP-TOES" A COMEDY PACKED WITH THRILLS

There is a weird and entertaining nightmare scene in "Tip-Toes," the picture at Fischers Appleton Theatre today and Saturday. In which a strange company of famous people cavort while Dorothy Gish as the penniless heroine of the story tosses guiltily on the silken bed in the expensive hotel suite which she is occupying under false pretenses.

Michael Arlen is seen chatting with Shakespeare; Miss Leighton cries because a medieval woman snatches her tennis ball; Mary Queen of Scots flirts with a modern young man—and it all ends in a puff of smoke with Nelson Keys and Will Rogers, both sheathed in steel armor rescuing Dorothy. And when she awakes and realizes where she is, reality seems more distressing than the nightmare for she doesn't know when the fate hotel manager may appear with a policeman to take her and her tricky "uncles," who are plotting to marry her to a wealthy young English lord, away to one of those awful English goals which Oscar Wilde described so vividly.

"Tip-Toes," is an unusual picture

PIGEONS TO RACE 600 MILES FROM MISSOURI

Quite a number of pigeons have been shipped by Appleton pigeon fanciers to Arkansas, Mo., where they will be released Saturday morning for a 600 mile race to Appleton.

Birds owned by Frank Van Agtmael won the 500 miles race from Ironton, Mo., last week. The birds were released at 7 o'clock in the morning and the first two reached the Van Agtmael loft at 6:35:22. Two more arrived at 7:40:03 and another arrived at 7:45. Twenty-six birds owned by Van Agtmael, Irvin Roeland, John Roeland, William Myse and Andrew Archer took part in the race.

INVITE SICK TO ATTEND FREE CHEST CLINIC

A free chest clinic will be sponsored by the Appleton Women's club at the clubhouse from 1:30 to 5:30 Saturday afternoon with Dr. C. D. Boyd of River view sanatorium as examining physician. Miss Fox, also of the sanatorium, will assist the physician. All persons with symptoms which point to tuberculosis have been urged to attend the clinic.

NOTHING NEW IN RADIO IS SHOWN

Chicago Convention Disappointing to Those Seeking Revolutions

BY ISRAEL KLEIN

If you have been waiting for the revolution in radio, wait no longer. There won't be any revolution. After looking over the latest products of the radio manufacturers in Chicago, the dealers of the country who went there to see something startling came away with this feeling: There is no revolution, despite all the previous rumors of amazing developments in the manufacture of radio receivers. All that the dealers observed at this trade show of new receivers and radio appliances was a gradual evolution toward what might be termed the electrically operated receiver.

This is the outstanding advancement in radio. The receivers on the market today are practically the receivers that will be on the market in the fall, after the New York radio show is introduced to the public. The novelties now observed by the dealers, A AND B. ELIMINATORS.

We have B-battery eliminators. We shall continue to have them for the next season at least. We have socket power units for filament lighting to replace the storage battery equipment. We shall continue to have them this fall, although such improved over prevailing types.

We have radio receivers calling for storage battery tubes. We shall have them next fall and many seasons to come, by which time the storage battery receiver is furnishing a five and six tube outfit this season.

But the great majority still call for storage battery tubes, in spite of the recent announcement of the production of tubes that take their filament voltage direct from the alternating house current.

THE PREVAILING SET To be sure, there are receivers designed expressly for the use of alternating current tubes. But these are far in the minority. They merely point to a future possibility.

The set of this year may be described as follows: A six or seven tube, single control outfit, designed for outside antenna reception, on three stages of radio frequency, a detector and two stages of audio frequency.

Some power units for plate voltages and for filament voltage. The plate voltage units are practically all alike, consisting of heavy choke and transformer, to step down or up the 110 volts of alternating current, into varying direct voltages required for the receiver.

The filament power unit is either a combination of small storage battery and charger, to keep the unit constant and direct, or an apparatus consisting of a step-down transformer and condenser to provide six-volt direct current "without a hum." There have been perfected so far that no hum can be discerned from them.

OTHER TYPES SHOWN Finally there is the cone-type loud speaker, either of the floating or rigid type, but both perfected to cover the entire range of voice and music efficiently.

There are many other types of receivers, power units and speakers, but these are out of the ordinary. Many depend on the average type of receiver, encased however in cabinets designed to appeal to the woman's taste.

One firm offers a display of receivers ranging in price from $100 to $2,500. The latter consists of an improved receiver with four loud speakers so arranged that two take high pitch and two low pitch, to cover the entire range of voice and music frequencies in reproduction. All this is encased in a gorgeous cabinet of Spanish design.

There are loud speakers built along the plans of the latest type phonographs, with entwining horns that wind to a total length of 70 or 80 inches.

THEY'RE WED

Grace Vanderbilt, 27, one of the world's richest heiresses, reported engaged at one time or another to half a dozen titled Europeans, has just settled the marriage matter definitely by becoming Mrs. Henry J. Gansaway. Miss Vanderbilt is 27. She is pictured above with her bride. Grace didn't consult the wishes of her parents, General and Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, about the ceremony. She just hurried to the New York City Hall with Henry for a civil wedding witnessed by a policeman. Father and Mother Vanderbilt were not at all pleased, 'tis said.

PLAYGROUND TEAMS MEET AGAIN FRIDAY

Heat Has Slowed Up Some Work but Baseball Still Holds Interest

Although the intense heat has taken some of the enthusiasm out of playground work, baseball games between the various wards are still the big feature. Friday evening the First and Fourth wards hook up again on the Fourth ward lot while the Fifth and Sixth battle it out at the Sixth ward school.

Wednesday evening the same teams played and the Sixth copped the decision on the Fifth ward diamond 4 and 3. The First ward took things easy in their game with the Fourth warders and brought home the bacon, 18 to 0. The Third ward team was drawn a bye for this week but several games have been played between the married and single men of the district.

Thursday afternoon a number of the Fourth ward youths under the captain Bob Keller were out at Waverly for an afternoon swim. Other first ward activities, those for the girls, gave the Fourth ward young ladies a 24 to 19 victory over the First ward in a kickball game. Friday afternoon the girls play baseball with the First warders.

Luther Koonke was crowned horse-shoe champion of the Fifth warders during the week. The Junior boys of the Fifth ward won a softball game over their Sixth ward rivals 10 to 8 and the intermediate boys battled an extra inning to settle their argument and win 2 and 1.

BUD GORMAN LOSES TO JIM MALONEY ON FOUL

Chicago (P)—Jimmy Maloney of Boston was awarded the decision over Bud Gorman, Kenosha, heavy-weight, in the fourth round of their fight Thursday night on a foul. The bout was full of action with honors fairly even. Gorman, ducking the vicious hooks of Maloney, countered from a crouch when one of his shots went wild and Maloney crumpled to the floor. After a few minutes attention from a physician, Maloney was able to leave the ring unaided.

Maloney was given the decision on a foul and in addition received a heartfelt apology from Gorman for the low punch.

es, and that are designed to cover the full range of sound frequencies for perfect reproduction.

Every piece of apparatus shown the dealers at this exclusive show, however, proves not a revolution in this field, but a gradual evolution toward a product that will insure true reproduction of whatever is broadcast.

When only 18 years old, Eben E. Rexford wrote the lines to "Silver Threads Among the Gold." He sold them for $3 and they later made thousands of dollars for publishers.

HIKING DRUMMERS BUSY

Long-distance drumming is a new sport in Belgium, and there is strong competition as to who has the strongest legs and arms. A fifty-year-old Poulet drummer in the Walloon district recently won a wager that he could march from Fosses to Namur, a total distance of 26 miles, without stopping and without ceasing to beat his drum, except for an hour for luncheon. A Nimy drummer, named Robillard, aged 59, then made a drumming journey from Mons to Ath and back, covering 34 miles in 11 hours. Then a drummer of Maurauges stepped the 40 miles to Brussels and return to the beat of the drum. The competitions are popular among workers, especially miners.

ASSEMBLYMEN, IN SHIRT SLEEVES, WADE THRU MASS OF BILLS

Lower House Gets Down to Business While Senators Debate Dignity

Madison—(AP)—Thursday, while the senators were worrying about the propriety of removing their coats, in the warm chamber of the upper house of the legislature, members of the assembly stripped off their waistcoats and waded through action on nearly fifty pieces of legislation, staying on, long after the noon whistles had released other workers.

Committees on conference were granted the senate by the lower house on two measures in which the senate adhered to its position on amendments, and the lower house concurred with the senate on amendments to several other bills.

The Res resolution, which will have to be passed by the present legislature, by that of 1929 and by the people before it becomes a part of the constitution, was advanced to third reading. It amends the instrument so that the state may acquire and maintain water power plants under certain restrictions.

The assembly refused approval of the constitution-amending resolution of Senator Treadale, by which the salary of legislators would be ten dollars a day for 100 days. The vote on non-concurrence with the senate was 56 to 19, after members of the lower house pointed out that there are already two measures to be left for consideration of the next session of the legislature, effecting increases in the $500 per term salary of the legislators.

Several measures on the calendar for ordering to third reading were so ordered, and under suspension of the rules were passed. One of them was the Seftenberg bill authorizing the governor to enter into a contract on behalf of the state with the federal government for administration of funds hereafter available to the state for the education, health, relief and promotion of Wisconsin Indians.

The bill reconvening to the city of Rhinelander certain properties that were to have been used by the state for a normal school there was ordered engrossed, then, under suspension of rules was passed and sent to the senate.

Assemblyman Gehrmann's bill by which deer farms operated for profit and for the sale of deer meat, would be legalized in this state, was passed, as was the Schuette bill requiring that all the money-handling officers of building and loan association be bonded.

Also among the bills passed was the Duncanson bill allowing the board of regents to lease normal school lands to non-profit making corporations who shall build dormitories on the lands and lease them to the regents with a view to ultimate purchase.

The joint finance committee bill for a hospital at the state veterans' home was passed, along with the bills to rearrange the indemnities allowable under the workman's compensation act.

Set up reciprocity agreements with all other states for Wisconsin motorists visiting in those states and for motorists visiting in Wisconsin.

Purchase another automobile for the state executive mansion.

Appropriate funds for the upkeep of the secretary of state's office.

BEER BILL DOESN'T MEAN MUCH TO STATE

Beer With Any Kind of Real Kick Isn't Included in Protection

Madison—(AP)—Passage of the Duncanson "Beer bill" removing state restrictions on the manufacture of beer up to 2.75 per cent alcoholic content in reality "means nothing" to the state prohibition department, officials there said.

The law, still to be approved by the governor before becoming a law, was not expected to legalize the wholesale manufacture of the 2.75 per cent beer in the state, because breweries still come under the federal prohibition laws. It was intended, according to its author to be more of a "home brewer's bill of rights."

But the state prohibition heads, under Roland W. Dixon, prohibition commissioner, believe that it will not even provide the bill of rights feature.

This, they say is because most of the home brew made is of alcoholic content of more than 4 per cent alcohol.

Signing of the bill by the governor, thereby making it a law, will not lessen the duties of the prohibition department, they said, because the state agents will still have to enforce the law against beer of more than 2.75 per cent alcohol.

It will not therefore shift all of the duties of enforcement of the laws on beer and light liquors to the federal agents, the state men said. Although the federal agents may be able to make more arrests because of being able to arrest brewers of beer of lesser alcoholic content.

The state agents explained that the 2.75 per cent alcoholic content is "by weight" and that this is equivalent to 4.45 per cent alcohol by volume. The alcoholic content in prosecutions for violations is generally measured by volume, so that the new state law, if it is a law, would scarcely meet the content of beer now being made in home cellars.

"who wants to raid the ice box?"

FAMILIAR cry, mother, when the children are about. And are you going to give them something in the ice box to raid? Of course you are or you wouldn't be human, and a mother.

Cold chicken... jam in the cold closet... bread in the bread box... crackers, cheese... and Oak Grove Margarine to spread on the bread.

The whole family will like the deliciously salted taste of Oak Grove. They'll like it in cake, pie and hot breads, for it gives a delicate, tender texture to baking. And they'll like it in the vegetables too. Or as a part of the pan-gravy with the steak.

Try a pound today. Oak Grove is made fresh daily under U. S. Government inspection. If you are not pleased, your grocer will cheerfully refund your money.

Pie Crust

1 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 cup Oak Grove Oleomargarine, 1/2 tsp. salt, ice cold water.

Method: Sift flour and salt into mixing bowl, add oleomargarine and chop until fine. Add enough cold water to make a stiff paste. Divide for the two crusts. Roll pastry 1/8-inch thick. Spread on plate, trim and fill. Top crust is prepared in same way.

Modern Maid Bread

Ideal for sandwiches, toasting, and to take on your picnic over Sunday and July 4th.

New Victor Records

20659 Dawn of To-Morrow—Waltz
75c Rainbow of Love—Waltz

Nat Shilkret and the Victor Orchestra
New waltzes, by large dance orchestra with a notable range of new musical effects. The first is in standard rhythm, with highly unusual importance given the vibraphone at the beginning. There is a trio vocal refrain (Johnny Marvin, Ed Smalle and Elliott Shaw). There are marimba tricks and Hawaiian waltzes galore. The companion number is notable in having two simultaneous rhythms, of highly different character, working together.

35822 Rhapsody in Blue—Part 1
$1.25 Rhapsody in Blue—Part 2

Paul Whiteman and His Concert Orchestra
A new orthophonic recording of the "Rhapsody in Blue," the first concert piece brought into conspicuous notice, to have been based in thematic style, on the melody and spirit of American jazz and blues. George Gershwin, the composer, best known for stage successes with music of the lighter order, plays the solo piano, and Whiteman's full concert orchestra, which he has very fully explained in his book on jazz, and which includes about twenty-five performers, takes the instrumental parts.

6648 Largo (from "Xerxes")
$2.00 Pomp & Circumstance—March, No. 1
Frederick Stock and Chicago Symphony Orchestra and Grand Organ

A very remarkable new orchestral recording of the "Largo" with an organ added. Nothing in recent music exceeds this record in pure impressiveness. Oddly enough, the Largo was taken originally from a comic opera, and its words were not unremotely like those of the modern "Under the Sycamore Tree." But its stately measures have taken on a new significance with time. On the other side of the record is the first of the "Pomp and Circumstance" marches of Sir Edward Elgar, still living English composer, of whose works whole programs are frequently given abroad. For all really impressive music lovers.

New London—The Holy English Lutheran church organization will be disbanded, according to a decision made at a recent meeting of the members of the congregation. This step was necessitated by the small number of members who are now enrolled in the church organization, was taken upon the advice of Dr. Carl F. Schneider, pastor of the English Lutheran Synod of the Northwest. Herman Cooke and Fred Noack, were appointed as custodians of all church properties, the church, building being located on the corner of S. Pearl st. and W. Beaconsay, with the rectory adjoining on W. Beaconsay.

The Holy Trinity English Lutheran church was organized in 1919 with a membership of 50. The Rev. Walter H. Sharritt was the first pastor. At the end of his first year he went to Detroit, and was succeeded by Rev. Milton Haker, who accepted a call to a larger field in Minnesota. The Rev. J. Richard Olson was appointed as his successor. A little over a year ago the latter left, and the Rev. Carl F. Schneider was sent to this field. He was recently sent to Jefferson, Wis., to occupy the pulpit of the English Lutheran church in that city.

Just what disposition will be made of the church property has not yet been decided by the synod.

HECTIC CAREER OF PSEUDO HEIRESS IS EXPOSED IN COURT

Girl Who Entertained London
Elite Upstairs and Crooks
Downstairs Arrested

By MILTON BRONNER
London—By day she entertained high society in Mayfair. By night she consorted with crooks.

Upstairs in her pretty rooms the pink of London gathered to have tea.
Down stairs in the kitchen some of the shrewdest rascals in England laid plans for new coups.

Now she has been taken away from the pretty rooms and sent to prison for four years and a half.

That in a nutshell is the amazing
story of the woman who called herself
Josephine O'Dare.

It's an old story in novels. It's not quite so common in real life.

She burst upon London about three years ago. She took a nice house in one of the nicest streets in swell Mayfair. Aristocrats and people of title soon were going to her parties.

She entertained lavishly at the stylish hotels in the West End. She dressed raffishly. She went to the smartest shops in Bond street for her gowns and hats.

The meals she ordered for her guests were in the most perfect taste. She had a nice sense in wines, and her champagnes were of the finest.

Not only was she very pretty, but she talked well and wittily. She was voted "good fun." She rode a splendid horse in Rotten Row. She was much written up in the newspapers as "the Irish heiress who was training a horse with which she expected to win the Derby in 1928." The newspapers of London "fell" for her as hard as the society people.

Then came the inevitable crash. She was arrested in connection with some check frauds and uttering the forged will of a reputable Birmingham lawyer. Rapidly the police rounded up a gang of forgers and crooks with whom she associated in her business hours.

The other day, perfectly costumed in a lovely blue dress, her cheeks tanned
a faint pink, her dark eyes sparkling,
she stood in the dock at the Old Bailey
and heard herself described by a cold-voiced sleuth of Scotland Yard. She was not an heiress. She was not Irish.
She was not even named Josephine O'
Dare.

Instead she was named Skyrme, the daughter of an humble laborer in one of the farming counties of England.
Said the Scotland Yard man:

"While she was entertaining in a perfect manner people of repute in the upper part of a mansion, the lower

ELABORATE FIREWORKS AT LEGION CELEBRATION

Fireworks will be on the night program of the Legion celebration to be held at Green Bay De Pere on July 3 and 4. Among the set pieces to be offered, is "The Soldiers of the Four Wars," a mammoth piece 100 feet long depicting the Revolutionary War Pa-riot; the Civil War Boy in Blue; the Spanish American volunteer and the veteran of the World War.

Another special number, "The Statute of Liberty" shown in fiery colors France's gift to America. The American Legion emblem. The American flag, comedy pieces and hundreds of skyrockets, bombs and aials, are on the program.

In addition to these features of the night program, free acts, bands, midway and dancing.

It is expected that 20,000 people will see the biggest celebration in Wisconsin on the two days and nights.

Ordered to Court
Vinol Hawley, 310 W. Third-st., was arrested by Gus Herserkorn, motorcycle officer, for ignoring an arterial stop sign at W. Prospect-ave. about 2:15 Thursday afternoon. Vinol was to appear in court Friday afternoon.

part of the establishment was nothing more or less than a thieves' kitchen."

He estimated that she had obtained by illegal methods at least $100,000.

Among her victims was the man she employed as her butler. He gave her $12,000. In court, not yet disillusioned, he attempted to shield her. He said
the house was a well conducted one,
and the finest English aristocracy sat
at the table of his young employer.

Shiocton Man Is Enjoying Life Again Since Dreco Made Him Well

Says he never suffers with indigestion or shortness of breath
now and has more energy than in years.

Hardly a day passes now but what some person tells of the wonderful good Dreco, which is now being so successfully introduced by the Dreco Expert at Schlitz Bros. Drug Store.

Persons suffering
from stomach disorders, indigestion,
gastritis, deranged kidneys, sluggish liver, blood impurities, rheumatism,
catarrh of the nose, throat and stomach, the many other symptoms
which, nerves shattered, poor appetite brought on by the vital organs being weakened, come forward stating that Dreco has put new life and energy into their rundown system.

Read how this fine plant and herb remedy helped Mr. Joseph Tremmell who lives with his parents on a farm
at Shiocton, Wisc. He says:

"Before taking Dreco I was in a very rundown condition which was caused directly by a severe case of indigestion I believe. After every meal I suffered with agonizing pains in my stomach. Gas bloated me out and pressed upwards till I could hardly get my breath. I had very little appetite and nothing I ate tasted good to me. I always felt drowsy and tired and had no ambition to get out on the farm and work."

"After reading so much of Dreco I started to take it and I want to say right now that this grand remedy has given me a better appetite and more energy than I ever had before and has completely relieved the indigestion and shortness of breath. I now get more enjoyment out of life than ever before and am so happy to find relief I gladly recommend this grand remedy to all."

Dreco is being specially introduced by Schlitz Bros. Downtown Drug Store and sold by druggists everywhere. adv.

NOTE INCREASE IN FARM CLASSES AT STATE UNIVERSITY

Amundson Receives Report Giving Statistics on Work of Students

A report received from the college of agriculture of the University of Wisconsin by Robert Amundson, county agent, lists the following facts.

A total of 43 students completed the long course in agriculture in June. Of this number 32 students were residents of this state; 5 were from Illinois and one each from Michigan, Ohio,
Missouri, Oklahoma and New Jersey.

In addition to this use of the graduates was a native Russian.

In the Home economics department
there were 62 students graduated.
Among them 35 were from Wisconsin; 6 from Illinois, 3 each from Indiana, Michigan and Iowa; two each from Texas, Kansas, New York and Missouri one each from Minnesota,
New Jersey, Maryland and Massachusetts.

Of the 70 doctors degrees in philosophy granted 25 were in agricultural subjects. Seven receiving them were from Illinois, two each from Utah and Kansas, while seven other states and also Canada, England, China and Australia were represented.

Of the 72 masters in science degrees
seven were in home economics and 31
in agricultural branches. Of the long course graduates all but five or six have definite plans for the coming year.

The teaching profession claims the largest proportion when college positions are included with high school work report says. About 12 men have accepted positions in commercial agriculture, including journalism, feed companies milk products and other dairy applications. Four have already made plans to farm.

The total class enrollment for the scholastic year in the college of agriculture according to the report of the university faculty shows an increase of 10 in the agricultural departments and a decline in 7 with a net increase of 102 class registrations.

The Home economics departments show a decline of 53 compared with the record of the preceding year.

EXPECT VACATION WILL SPEED UP LAWMAKING

Madison—(P)—The legislative vacation, starting Friday night and lasting until Monday evening, July 11, is expected to speed up the work of the law making bodies rather than retard it.

The joint finance committee, at present is choked with bills and before the legislature can continue at any speed these measures must have to be reviewed and passed upon. The committee has been asked by its chairman, Senator W. L. Smith, to return directly after July 4 and start work before the other legislators return.

If the finance committee complies with this request the bills will have been given sufficient hearing and await the pleasure of the legislators.

In this case the calendars may be completed without the necessity of referring every fourth or fifth bill to the finance committee for hearing.

This committee, which must grant a hearing for every bill carrying an appropriation, has been working mornings at the state house for the last two weeks in an effort to clean up the work and insure the legislators of having complete calendars.
